

Mango

My grown son asked me how I slice a mango & I said I never had & he said what about the mango tree in your father's front yard & I said there was no yard & it wasn't a single tree
it was a grove & everywhere there were mangoes left fallen & in a state of rot
& there was a stink
I could not bear.