Day 1: January 26th, 9:00am - 4:00pm

Two 15 min breaks, 1 hour for lunch at 12:15pm (on your own). Welcome Dinner provided at 4:30pm.

Morning: Putting attachment theory into action in the playroom in the preparation phase

- Describe at least three aspects of combining an in-depth attachment history with unfolding narratives and dynamics within play therapy sessions to assess for early attachment wounds and disruptions.
- Utilize animal archetypes to identify 8 adaptation strategies children use to cope with complex trauma and explore ways to employ these in the playroom as part of an extended preparation phase.

Powerpoint lecture, practice in pairs, guided experiential intervention

Afternoon: Integrative attachment repair with children and parents using play therapy and somato-sensory play to prepare for processing

- Analyze themes of play to amplify and suggest metaphors for gradually approaching traumatic material as a way of assessing the attachment and pre-verbal trauma targets
- Utilize 5 play therapy interventions which apply polyvagal theory and therapeutic presence in the playroom to activate the conditions for safety during preparation phase.

Day 2: January 27th, 9:00am - 4:00pm

Two 15 min breaks, 1 hour for lunch at 12:15pm (on your own).

Morning: The power of narrative in Playful EMDR

- Utilize a play-based EMDR storytelling method within a play therapy context to heal attachment wounds and preverbal traumas.
- Apply the EMDR storytelling and Clay Little Me protocols in practice sessions.
- Utilize 3 mentalization questions and corresponding attachment repair interventions with caregivers in the play therapy room.

Afternoon: Use a dynamic, movement-intensive approach to apply dissociation theory in support of preparation and EMDR processing, and construct interweaves for fragmented parts of self

- Apply a screening interview to evaluate children for dissociation in the play therapy room.
- Demonstrate how to use dissociation theory to educate parents about problematic behaviors.
- Distinguish self-states and use developmentally appropriate ego-state language through play with a Dissociation Doll.
- Integrate somatic and sensory resources to decrease dissociative episodes in and out of the play room during desensitization and reprocessing phases of EMDR.

Day 3: January 28th, 9:00am - 12:00pm

One 15 min break at 10:30am, small group consultation session at 1:00 - 3:00pm.

Finish early to relax, recharge, be a tourist!

Morning: Parts of self in the preparation phase

- Explain the function of dissociation in complex trauma as it presents in a play therapy setting.
- Apply the principles of curiosity and gradual exposure to allow dissociative parts of self to emerge during preparation for EMDR.
- Demonstrate a play therapy conference table intervention and practice identifying different types of emotional parts/roles, and initiate internal cooperation in sand tray.

Day 4: January 29th, 9:00am - 4:00pm

Two 15 min breaks at 10:30 and 3:45, 1 hour lunch at noon (on your own).

Snack provided for small group consultation 4:00 - 6:00pm.

Description: A deep dive into the protective parts of self and using effective strategies with hostile and perpetrator parts, incorporating parents for support in and out of the EMDR processing sessions and as interweaves. We will analyze videos and transcripts of young children and teens.

Morning:

- Describe 2 Gestalt Play therapy activities used to support meeting attachment needs and apply in an experiential activity.
- Describe examples of engaging with protective parts to cooperate with and support the processing of the wounds of younger parts.

Afternoon:

- Describe 2 strategies to work effectively in play therapy with angry and hostile self-states to resolve traumatic experiences and reduce violent behaviors.
- Utilize parent psychoeducation and coaching to support their highly dissociative children and engage hostile parts.

Day 5: January 30th, 9:00am - 2:00 pm

One 15 min break at 10:30, 1 hour lunch at noon (on your own).

- Analyze an extended case transcript to describe themes and strategies which can help the most wounded and hostile parts to heal and move child towards integration.
