

Wild Thing

The Adirondacks are known for their rugged wilderness and simple splendor. Witness it firsthand with an exciting blend of animals, aquatics and adventure.

HIGH FALLS GORGE

High Falls Gorge is a 22-acre, privately owned nature park that provides safe trail access for all ages to an otherwise inaccessible area. In the shadow of Whiteface Mountain, you can take a nature walk to view the famous AuSable River. Sturdy bridges, walkways, and groomed walking trails provide safe access to breathtaking views and scenic, photographic vantage points. View four splendid waterfalls cascading over rocks into a deep crevice carved a billion years ago. highfallsgorge.com

Travel outside to the Wild Walk, a winding trail of bridges and platforms that takes visitors from the ground level up to the treetops and into the heart of the Adirondack forest. With a four story twig treehouse, swinging bridges, a spider's web you can hang out on and opportunities to just sit and observe, the Wild Walk is all about discovery and peeling back the layers of the scene around you to show how the living Adirondack forest works. The best part about the Wild Walk is that it is accessible to people of all generations and abilities - a mother with a stroller, a friend with a wheelchair - the Wild Walk is designed for everyone to experience and enjoy! wildcenter.org
