CALLED BY GOD TO GO: Members in Ministry

By Al Reimche

For some it was a long run into the wilderness, or the experience of being "herded" by caravan to a foreign country, or hiding in a wine vat. Others found themselves sleeping in the sanctuary, in the middle of plowing the back 40, or orphaned in a foreign country. Still others had to be struck off their horses, or have hot coals applied to their lips. One even found himself responding while nailed to a cross.

trip, a difficult marriage, a trip to the well, or a day with the sheep.

In I Peter 5:10 it says, "In his kindness God called you to share in his eternal glory by means of Christ Jesus."

News to our world.

It wasn't all wise persons, or elders, or men. It wasn't even just adults, but children who responded to God's call.

Called by God to Go—Members in Ministry means just that. God has called each of us in a variety of ways to carry His Good News to our world.

It can't be done by a lone leader, but takes a whole body, a priesthood of all believers, the loud voice of angels in heaven carried by our friendship to the neighbor next door.

When I think of my dream for our conference this year, it includes visions of members each experiencing the joy of using God's plethora of gifts in all sorts of ways to share God's love all over.

I dream of media being used to get behind walls and gated communities, of friendships reaching across cubicles and fences, of smiles being the predominate facial expression each Sabbath, of the body of Christ experiencing joy as each part functions under God's leadership. I also dream of a church that has room in ministry for children and seniors, men and women, young adults and families — all the varied and beautiful parts of Christ's body functioning together and supporting each other in the mission to our world. I dream too, of the joy seen on each face as the beautiful picture of Jesus becomes clearer and the walk with Jesus becomes stronger.

Called...Involved. Not mission impossible, but rather mission invincible, and then His return.

TWO LUNCHES AND A BACKPACK

By Allison Cheng

Micah 6:8 says, "He has shown you, O mortal, what is good. And what does the Lord require of you? To act justly and love mercy and to walk humbly with your God."

Growing up I never had to worry about where my next meal would come from. The sad reality is not everyone can say the same. To those who God gives many blessings, He requires much in return. Until I went to college, I never really had a face-to-face encounter with the stark reality that some people don't have enough food to make it through the day, let alone the week. I knew hunger existed. I knew that people died from hunger, but it never hit home until I found out some of my friends were practically starving themselves because they didn't have enough money.

God requires us to use our gifts to glorify him, and benefit others, and to seek justice, love mercy, and walk humbly with Him. He doesn't want us to hide our gifts under a rock or run away from a situation that needs help. If I had asked myself two years ago what I could do to make a difference regarding hunger, I never would have thought I could do it with my voice.

Two years ago, when I was approached to record for the non-profit, People to People Ministries, I was excited that I would have a chance to make a CD. The experience has certainly opened my eyes and given me not only a new appreciation for recording artists, but the realization that it's possible to use my talents for a cause and how blessed I am.

There are many ways to further God's work in the world and you don't have to go overseas to serve. Sometimes the greatest missionary work is in your own hometown. If you saw me on the street, you probably wouldn't guess that I am a singer. But that's the way God works. If God can use my voice to feed hungry children, He can use your talents for just about anything.

When I was asked what I wanted to do with the CD project profits, I said to donate it to the ministry. Apparently in today's times, it is astonishing to some that a young person is not always driven by putting themselves first. I just don't understand how doing the right thing seems so foreign. The only difference between me and some other people is that I took action to use my talents.

I encourage you to take action and support the Weekend Backpack Program. Many children do not have enough/anything to eat from the time school ends on Friday until classes begin again on Monday. The backpack ministries program helps fill that gap by providing two sack lunches to a child during the weekend.

Sometimes the greatest missionary work is in your own hometown.

Many children in your own neighborhood probably go hungry and you may never even know about it. Every child deserves the chance to have a full stomach. If you want to be the change, help a hungry child today because you will be investing in the future of tomorrow. For more information about feeding hungry children through the Weekend Backpack Program visit www.PeopleToPeopleMinistries.com.

NOTE WORTHY...

CHURCH SUFFERS CYBER THEFT

The world headquarters of the Seventh-day Adventists Church has been the victim of cyber theft. The theft involved approximately $500,000 that was being transferred on behalf of a denominational entity. Church officials are cooperating with federal authorities in the ongoing investigation and working with the banks and insurance companies to determine what recoveries may be possible. Find out more about the investigation at <http://bit.ly/1a11Qqi>.

SLAIN CANADIAN MISSIONARY LEAVES LEGACY OF SERVICE

A body found in the country of Guatemala has been identified as that of Brian Townsend, a 64-year-old Canadian Adventist, who had been working in the country of Belize. Townsend was first reported missing on December 25, 2013 after his cook found his small house broken into and Townsend missing. There were signs of a struggle and his truck was also missing. A search of the area ensued with the assistance of a local Pathfinder club and one of Brian's three adult children, Kory Townsend, who traveled from Edmonton, Alberta to find his father. Townsend had moved to Belize in 2004 to help with the construction of an Adventist school and church in the Valley of Peace area of Belize. After the buildings were completed, he stayed on to continue working in the local community.

WORLD CHURCH 2014 BUDGET ANNOUNCED

The Adventist 2014 world church budget of nearly $180 million will fund mission work and administrative support outside of North America, as well as the operation of the world headquarters building. This year's budget includes $46.2 million for operating costs, salaries and programs of the world headquarters building, $44 million in appropriations to the fields outside of North America, and $29.3 million for missionaries and employees serving in other divisions. Operating costs for the headquarters in Silver Spring, Md., is limited to 2 percent of world tithe. Until 2012, the North American Division (NAD) contributed 8 percent of its tithe to the world budget, while the other 12 divisions each contributed 2 percent. The 2012 vote reduced NAD's tithe percentage contribution down to 6 percent, implemented over several years. With North America's tithe at nearly $1 billion, the 2014 adjustment means an approximately $10 million reduction.

PACS RECEIVES WALMART GRANT

Portland Adventist Community Services (PACS) has received a grant of $62,738 from the Walmart Foundation State Giving Program for a new refrigerated box truck. It will be used to transport fresh food donations which will be distributed to low-income families through the PACS Food Pantry.

REINER APPOINTED TO TOP ADVENTIST HEALTH POSITION

Scott Reiner, executive vice president and COO of Adventist Health, has been appointed president. Reiner will succeed Robert G. Carmen, who announced his intent to retire in September. With the vote at December's board of directors meeting, Reiner became president-elect with immediate transitioning of executive responsibilities, according to Ricardo Graham, Adventist Health board chairman. The transition is to be completed by March 31. Reiner has spent a significant number of years within Adventist Health. He started his leadership as the CEO of Glendale Adventist Medical Center (GAMC), a 515-bed facility in southern California. After seven years of service at GAMC, Reiner assumed the role of senior vice president of Adventist Health in 2006. In 2010, he was named the executive vice president and COO.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HONORS WWU PROFESSOR

Bruce Toews, associate professor of accounting and finance at Walla Walla University (WWU), was presented with the Walla Walla University Community Service Award at the annual Walla Walla Chamber of Commerce gala banquet in early December. Each year, the chamber hosts this banquet, which brings community members together to honor local citizens who have made a positive impact in society. At this banquet, Whitman College, Walla Walla University, and Walla Walla Community College each present an award to a local citizen for their community service. WWU president John McVay presented the award, honoring Toews for his generosity and service to the community.

NEW PRESIDENT FOR TILLAMOOK HOSPITAL

David Butler has been named president and CEO of Tillamook Regional Medical Center (TRMC) in Tillamook, Ore. Butler will assume his responsibility for TRMC, their multiple physician clinics and Urgent Care Centers along the Oregon coast on February 3, 2014. Butler has more than 25 years of experience leading large and rural-sized health care facilities. He currently serves as CEO for North Canyon Medical Center, a critical access hospital in Gooding, Idaho.

LINDA WALTER PASSES AWAY

The Adventist Media Center is sad to announce that Linda Walter passed away at 12:21 a.m., December 19. She passed peacefully, surrounded by family members and friends. Linda began working for the Voice of Prophecy radio ministry on June 1, 1970, and carried many different responsibilities over the years. In 1987, she began working for Faith For Today as a researcher/writer in the production department and in 1989 she transferred to the Adventist Media Center television production department where she worked as a producer. In 1999, she was appointed the director of the Adventist Media Services (AMS) Agency and she held that position until she passed away. Condolences for the family may be sent to Adventist Media Center, 101 West Cochran Street, Simi Valley, CA 93065.

BATTLE GROUND CLINIC RECEIVES $184,000 GRANT

The Battle Ground HealthCare Free Clinic has been awarded a $184,000 three-year grant from the Washington State Attorney General's office. The funds will help institute a formal treatment plan at the clinic for patients experiencing chronic pain. The clinic, started in 2011 as an outreach project of the Meadow Glade Adventist Church in Battle Ground, Wash., specializes in treating chronic health conditions for the uninsured at or below 200% of the federal poverty level and between the ages of 18 and 65.

BRYAN TO RETURN AS WWU SENIOR PASTOR

Alex Bryan has accepted the invitation to once again lead the Walla Walla University (WWU) Church as senior pastor. Bryan served as senior pastor of the University Church from 2009 to June of 2013. During his tenure, he expanded ministry programs and led renewal projects to commemorate the church's 50th anniversary. He also taught university classes and served as an advisor to the WWU president for vision and strategy. Bryan has most recently been serving as president of Kettering College in Kettering, Ohio. His expected date of return to WWU is yet to be determined.
