

Bliss Creations on Destination Weddings

An old sugar mill in Hawaii, a white sandy beach in the Maldives, a cliff top villa in Bali, or overlooking the Great Wall in China, ... the options for your destination wedding are endless. With some careful thought and planning you can have your dream wedding in unique locations across Asia Pacific.

Holding a destination wedding can take a considerable amount of planning and research and even though there are a significant amount of resources available these days, an experienced and professional planner will not only take care of all the details but will keep you informed and comfortable while planning this far away occasion.

With over 12 years of experience organizing luxury weddings in HK & overseas, Sonya Yeung, founder and Creative Director of Bliss Creations, has some regional top picks for a destination wedding in Asia Pacific:

In Thailand: Apart from the popular islands in the south, Chiang Mai is a desirable alternative that will impress you and your guests. With luxury tented camps or lush tropical gardens, the delicious local delicacies and distinctive local culture will win the hearts of many.

In China: In such a vast country with spectacular scenery, China has some truly unique venues to consider. You can marry overlooking The Great Wall of China or within the stunning mountains of Shangri-La, to beautiful lakeside resorts and even mountain top castles. The possibilities abound.

In Sri Lanka: A wedding in Sri Lanka is somewhere your guests will never have imagined but with exotic venues including old colonial hotels to your own private island, the diverse landscapes and rich heritage of the country will certainly create ever lasting memories.

In Philippines: Sonya's pick for her own wedding, the Philippines offers couples a chance to get married against the infinite horizon of the sea on many of its unspoiled islands.

In Vietnam: With delicious food to warm welcoming people, you can have your wedding set amidst a backdrop of surreal rolling sand dunes, or the Unesco Heritage site of Halong Bay, or even one of Asia's most stunning design hotels.

In Bali: An old favourite, Bali remains a wonderful choice to consider for your destination wedding. With an abundance of venues from villas to rice terraces, river valleys and private beaches it would be hard not to find somewhere that suits even the most discerning bride & groom.
