Risk Manager.

Are you a “Responsible Person”?

A Responsible Person is someone who has control over the premises or activities that take place on the premises. This could be the owner of the venue or someone appointed to manage somewhere the public can access, such as a GP surgery. The responsible person has a legal duty to ensure that the premises are safe and that all necessary safety measures are in place.

The Risk Manager App enables the responsible person to assist staff in ensuring guests' safety and security. It manages processes and gives a toolbox for the safe and secure operations of your building.

The neglect of the safety and security of guests is common, but with increased fines and the possibility of custodial sentences, they shouldn't be. The Risk Manager app gives the responsible person and team simple processes that provide legal protection and tangible benefits in instruction, and tools should the worst happen.

Laws are changing, and you could soon become more responsible for the safety of your venue than you think. Incidents like the fire at Grenfell have compelled the Government to make changes that ensure business owners that have premises with employees or that allow public access take better care in ensuring everything from fire safety to general hygiene are taken seriously.

The Risk Manager App is available on all devices¹, Ensuring compliance and giving you and your business the necessary legal protection.

Get rid of the paperwork, it is slow, expensive, and takes up space. The Risk Manager application provides all of your compliance and audit processes digitally, and will remind you when they need to be carried out. Both affect the risk of a serious incident happening, whether that be a fire or someone getting food poisoning, so our “Running Risk Value” provides you with a data in a report form telling you where the biggest risks are. Miss a compliance, the risk goes up.

The Risk Manager App gives you the tools to document, check and react.

Risk Manager can also be used to manage incidents, including those of a very serious nature such as those that relate to Martyns Law. Mass notifications in the form of SMS, E-mail, and calls can be used to alert your staff when something goes wrong.

The design of the Risk Manager App is to put those processes into place in a way that is quick to implement, easy for a user to understand, and automates most of the compliance documentation. The toolbox is so self-explanatory we're confident that all staff could use it with little to no training.

If you have a unique process that needs adding to your venue, call our helpdesk on 08453301445.

Remember, this is about prevention. The Application is designed to help you keep on top of your daily, weekly, monthly, or annual Compliance or Audits, significantly limiting the risk of a serious incident. Here's what the App can give you.

- Integrating Risk Manager with physical security products like alarms and CCTV can create more comprehensive security solutions. This approach provides a holistic approach to address a broader range of physical and digital threats and offers customers a more robust and complete security system.
- Offering a combination of physical security products and Risk Manager Software can help businesses position themselves as comprehensive security solution providers; this can be a significant advantage in a market where your competitors may only offer singular security aspects.
- Adding Risk Manager to your product portfolio can create new revenue streams operating on a subscription model, which provides a reliable source of recurring revenue in addition to the one-time sales of physical security products.
- Cross-Selling and Upselling Opportunities: For businesses already selling alarms and CCTV systems, Risk Manager presents an excellent opportunity for cross-selling. Existing customers who trust your company for their physical security needs may be more inclined to consider your Risk software solutions.
- Building Customer Loyalty and Trust: A comprehensive security solution can increase customer satisfaction. Customers are likely to appreciate the convenience and effectiveness of a unified security system, which can increase their loyalty and trust in the brand.
- Staying Ahead of Emerging Threats: Risk Manager software is designed to adapt to emerging threats, particularly in the digital realm. By offering such software, businesses can provide their customers with a future-proof security solution.
- Compliance and Regulatory Advantages: Many industries face strict regulations regarding risk management. Offering software that helps businesses comply with these regulations can be a significant selling point.
- Data-Driven Insights for Improved Security: The Risk Manager software constantly assesses and informs as risk grows using analytics and data insights based on an AI engine.
- As client businesses grow, their security needs often become more complex. A package with physical security measures and risk management software can scale with the client, providing a long-term security solution.
- One way to establish a business as an expert is by selling sophisticated products such as Risk Manager; this can open opportunities for offering consultation services, further enhancing your business's reputation and revenue.
