

ALONZO'S NEWS

MAY 23, 2020

Alonzo completed two more sculptures during this stay-at-home time, a horse and a giraffe. But when the weather starts to turn warm, he switches his artistic efforts to oil pastels, because he finds the wax/clay mix for sculpture too tacky, and he doesn't enjoy that stickier texture. So this moose pastel is his first effort of the warmer season. Our sales representative, Access Gallery, is able to create prints of his pastels that are available for purchase. Contact Amy at the gallery (amy@accessgallery.org) for more information.
