

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Section 1: Terms of Use

U.S. Multicultural Media Forecast 2019: Executive Summary

The following Terms of Use (the “TOU”) for the Report and all PQ Media (PQM) data, analysis and other content defined below in this section apply to all individuals who download the Executive Summary of the Report (known collectively as the “Licensee” henceforth) via the public area of the Association of National Advertisers’ (ANA) website. These TOU cover all content, data, analysis, information, charts, graphs, research methodologies, algorithms, databases, datasets, market research, support materials, notes, sources, opinion leader panels, forecasts, and any other related materials, resources or assets that were created previously by PQM, those that were developed specifically for this Report, and all content PQM has licensed into the new Report for use by Licensee (known collectively as the “Content” henceforth).

The TOU specified in Section 1 and the ensuing subsections below. PQM expects the Licensee to treat this Report and all the Content therein in the same manner they would treat any print, digital, hybrid or other media product or service (ex., book, software, information service) that is licensed from a third-party creator, publisher, developer, producer or content owner. Accordingly, PQM shall include in the Report the necessary copyright information and other information regarding the use and consumption of and access to the Report including, without limitation, the Permitted Uses and Prohibited Uses outlined below.

Permitted Use – The Licensee may use the Content from the Executive Summary of the Report solely for Licensee’s internal business purposes as set forth in this section. To make a Permitted Use, the Licensee may download the Executive Summary of the Report to a device (e.g., PC, laptop, tablet, smartphone) and he/she may display a digital copy or print a copy of the Report for his/her internal business purposes. Such purposes may include the use of summary or excerpted Content from the Executive Summary of the Report in a presentation made to clients employed at external organizations or in a presentation made to media industry stakeholders at a business trade show, provided that any summary use of Content from the Executive Summary of the Report appropriately cites PQM as the sole source and copyright owner of the Content, except for certain data and/or analysis that is jointly owned by PQM and the ANA or owned by the ANA and provided to PQM in connection with the Report, as specified in Section 2 – Copyright & Intellectual Property.

Prohibited Use – The Licensee is not permitted to use, copy, print, email, distribute or share the Executive Summary of the Report or portions of the Content in any form other than the specific uses described in the preceding Permitted Use section with any other individuals or entities that do not meet the definition of Licensee specified in Section 1. If Licensee would like to use or distribute the Executive Summary of the Report or any of its Content in a manner that diverges from the uses detailed in the Permitted Use section above, the Licensee must contact PQ Media to request written permission. Licensee is not permitted to modify or re-work the Executive Summary of the Report or its Content in any way, and he/she is prohibited from selling, leasing, renting or sub-licensing the Executive Summary of the Report in any manner.

Rights – The Licensee may use the Executive Summary of the Report in print or digital format for internal business purposes only, as described in the Permitted Use section. This right to “use the Report” is strictly limited to the authorized uses detailed in the Permitted Use section. PQM reserves all rights not expressly granted to Licensee in these TOU. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the Licensee acknowledges and agrees that, except as specifically set forth in this paragraph and the ANA Content, PQM retains all right, title and interest to all Content, as defined in the preceding Terms of Use section, that PQM solely developed for the Report, and covered by copyright law, as well as any other related materials and assets described in the Copyright & Intellectual Property section that follows.

Section 2: PQ Media's Copyright & Intellectual Property

U.S. Multicultural Media Forecast 2019: Executive Summary

As stated in the Terms of Use section, PQM owns all the Content as it's defined in Section 1, which includes all data, analysis, information, charts, graphs, research methodologies, algorithms, databases, datasets, market research, support materials, notes, sources, opinion leader panels, forecasts, and any other related materials, resources or assets that were created previously by PQM, and that were developed specifically for this Report, as well as all content PQM has licensed into the Executive Summary of the new Report for use by the Licensee.

While the majority of the Content in the Executive Summary of the Report will be owned solely by PQM, due to PQM already owning the Content or because PQM will develop most of the data and analysis during the course of this project for the final Report, the exceptions will be certain data, analysis and information, as described below, that will either be jointly owned by PQM and the ANA or solely owned by the ANA (collectively, the "ANA Content").

Specific to data and/or analysis that is jointly owned by PQM and ANA, U.S. copyright law states that co-ownership of copyrighted works based on co-authorship is substantiated by evidence of each author contributing significant copyrightable subject matter to the work. That is, one is not a joint author where the contributions are limited to "ideas, refinements, and suggestions." As it relates to this project, while PQM will research, analyze, synthesize and structure for publication most of the new data and information it does not already own, the ANA's contribution will primarily be feedback to the data and analysis developed by PQM.

However, due to its contribution to the Executive Summary of the Report, the ANA will jointly own with PQM the demographic and endemic/non-endemic definitions in the Report. As funding sponsor of the Report, the ANA also will share a co-authorship and copyright credit with PQM that will appear in the Report, with the ANA and/or AIMM prominently displayed on select pages within the Executive Summary of the Report, particularly on the cover and copyright page.

The Licensee hereby acknowledges and agrees that, except for the ANA Content, PQM does now and shall in perpetuity own all intellectual property rights to the Content in the Executive Summary of the Report, including related research methodologies, databases, datasets, market research and support materials, sources, opinion leader panels, analysis, charts, graphs, tables, algorithms, forecasts and projections, notes, and any other materials and assets created by PQM and/or included in the Executive Summary of the Report by PQM. The Licensee acknowledges and agrees that they shall not at any time during the Term of this Agreement or at any time thereafter challenge, claim or contest the validity of any right, title or interest of PQM in and to the Content or any other of PQM's data, analysis or other information licensed into the Executive Summary of the Report.

Information “As Is” – All information and data contained in the Executive Summary of the Report are obtained by PQ Media from sources that PQ Media believes to be accurate and reliable. However, errors and omissions in the Executive Summary of the Report may result from human error, technical malfunctions, electronic or digital conversion glitches and/or transmission of textual and numeric data.
