Little Stars and Inspire Dance Academies Philosophy

We believe in a philosophy of individual expression and personal excellence. To maintain this philosophy dancers must develop physically by learning dance skills, improving physical conditioning, developing good health habits, and avoiding injuries.

Psychologically, dancers must learn how to control their emotions and promote feelings of self-worth.

Socially, dancers must learn how to cooperate in class by learning appropriate standards of behavior.

As the dancer develops physically, psychologically, and socially each becomes an individual capable of "expression and excellence".

The studio provides skill-building techniques through the various dance forms offered. Equal attention is given to providing a pleasant atmosphere essential to learning.

Good poise and self-confidence is gained while experiencing the joy of movement that carries through to all parts of the dancer's life.

Our goal is to provide every student with a solid dance foundation, while leaving room for individual creativity and FUN!

Happy Dancing!
