

Charles Osborne

22. May 2020

LOYALTY

Charles has held many roles as a contractor lasting for 3-5 months depending on the project. When he has been employed his engagement has lasted for more than 4 years. He has a good mix of loyalty to his clients and employers.

REMOTE FIT

Charles has lived on the road for many years. He shows extreme efficiency and reliability when working remotely as he has managed to deliver on projects in areas of the world with limited online infrastructure. He has a professional remote office set up outside of London, UK, but is well suited for moving around with his projects if needed.

FLEXIBILITY

The variety of projects that Charles has worked on throughout his career is impressive. It ranges from groundfloor marketing positions to general manager of a major airplane producer.

GROWTH MINDSET

Charles shows a great mindset for personal growth, evident in the number of roles he has been involved in his career. He also lists his travel experiences as a way of how learning about himself and life.

CV/ONLINE PROFILES

Charles LinkedIn Profiles is complete and shows great structure. The professional profile is an indication that Charles has a good eye for detail and has a great story to tell. His CV is well written and loaded with information.

VOLUNTEERING

Charles has volunteered on several projects. Most noticeably is his 2 months as a teacher in Nepal and his work for an NGO on the coral reefs outside Bali, Indonesia.

RECOMMENDATION

Charles has extensive and rich experience that is well suited in any industry and professional field. He likes to label himself as a storyteller marketer.

He can work well in a team, especially as a team leader, but he is also a very good asset to have in a creative role within marketing as his background will be an asset to whoever signs him on.

Report by Paul Arnesen