

Felix Jofre

27. May 2020

LOYALTY

Felix has worked remotely for 6 years and has worked on several projects during that time. The longest project he had the one with the longest duration was for more than 2 years.

REMOTE FIT

Felix is working from his professional home office from Santiago, Chile. He has a strong internet connection and he performs very well in videocalls. His English is perfect.

FLEXIBILITY

Felix has a passion is customer service, which is the field he has worked the longest in. His focus in the last years and his projects has been diverse, ranging from marketing to entrepreneurship.

GROWTH MINDSET

Felix indicates a great growth mindset, especially in the last year where he has finished 3 different courses, Scrum Master, Fundamentals of neuroscience, and project management.

CV/ONLINE PROFILES

His LinkedIn profile is good with a detailed overview of his background. His CV is professionally made, short, but to the point. He also has a minimalistic personal website that works as an online business card.

VOLUNTEERING

Felix has not indicated any voluntary work.

OUR FEEDBACK

In light of Felix's very recent self-development in fields such as neuroscience, project manager, and scrum master it is clear that he is now ready for his next step in his career. He has valuable experience as an entrepreneur from a successful project so he would fit great into a remote company with growth ambitions.

He likes a challenge and comes across as serious and determined to achieve at a high level.

He has indicated that has a passion for customer service, thus he could have potential in managing or implementing a remote customer service team

Report by Paul Arnesen