LOYALTY

Komives has been a freelancer for many years and worked on several projects for periods of up to 1 year. She has held one position for more than 3 years before her freelance career.

REMOTE FIT

She has 11 years of experience working remotely. She works from a professional setup, but she is moving around the world as a digital nomad. She understands the importance of a good internet connection and she has a good microphone and camera on her laptop.

FLEXIBILITY

Komives is very flexible and has done many different jobs as a remote worker from user testing to translations.

GROWTH MINDSET

Komives speaks several languages which she has taught herself in her own time as she has a strong interest in languages. She has attended several universities on short term courses and she also continues to do various online training in a multitude of fields to stay on top. She loves to learn.

CV/ONLINE PROFILES

Her LinkedIn profile is great and complete. She tells her story well. Her CV is informative, with evidence of someone who has a long and varied experience to look back on.

VOLUNTEERING

Komives has worked on many volunteer projects in her career, in many different countries and industries. In total, she has indicated 11 different volunteer positions she has held.

OUR FEEDBACK

Komives would be a virtual assistant that you could give many different tasks. Her background is very varied and with that experience, she could fit great with someone who is looking for an assistant that speaks several languages, willing to learn more, and is hard working.

She has experience working across timezones and could, therefore, be great in a team environment where different timezones is an issue. However, her skills work best as someone one to one, or with her as a team organizer.
