

Rumana Thajudeen

18. May 2020

LOYALTY

Rumana has worked remotely for the last 2 years. During that time she has managed to work for 3 different companies. The longest, which is still ongoing, has now been for 1.5 years.

REMOTE FIT

Rumana has worked with clients remotely from the UK and the US. She has a professional home office setup from her home in Sri Lanka.

FLEXIBILITY

Rumana is still young, so she is still trying out different aspects of her skills. She is educated in biomedical sciences but has worked on contact & data acquisition assistant, research assistant, and content writer.

GROWTH MINDSET

As she still is in a period where she is learning she is constantly improving herself. She indicates that she now is learning SEO and WordPress with the help of Youtube.

CV/ONLINE PROFILES

Her LinkedIn profile is short and to the point. Her CV is more detailed and gives a better impression of her background. She also has a Hubstaff account where she details her skills.

VOLUNTEERING

Rumana has not indicated any volunteer projects.

OUR FEEDBACK

Rumana would fit great as a virtual assistant or research assistant that deals with a lot of data. She comes across as structured and ready to learn.

With her analytical experience and her biomedical background, any startup or company in the biotech field should consider employing her. She would work great in a role where the tasks are to analyze data and researching opportunities.

The fact that she is now learning SEO and WordPress indicates that she has other ambitions also, and could therefore also work well on marketing research projects.

Report by Paul Arnesen