

Maria Baidenbaum

03. June 2020

LOYALTY

Maria has since 2012 been employed or worked for 5 different companies, and her loyalty is unquestioned. Her average is more than 2 years per job.

REMOTE FIT

She has been freelance since 2012, but she has worked full time remotely for the last 3 years. She is used to traveling around the world with her job, but she doesn't consider herself a digital nomad. She now works remotely from her location in a major city in Mexico. She speaks perfect English and is excellent at videocalls.

FLEXIBILITY

Maria is a jack of all trades. She has tested and worked in many different roles throughout her career. She has experience as an event manager, PR assistant, operations manager, coordinator, and project manager. All from different industries.

GROWTH MINDSET

Maria is learning through her jobs and projects. Also, as she currently has had some time she has embarked on a community project in Mexico and is learning along the way.

CV/ONLINE PROFILES

Her LinkedIn profile is good and displays her flexibility from her background well. She has received 3 great feedbacks from former colleagues.

VOLUNTEERING

Maria is doing her own community project at the moment in Mexico. She planned her first event, a street party in Mexico when she was 16!

OUR FEEDBACK

With Maria, you will get the best of many things. She has an inspiring personality and strives to be a positive influence and force for the organizations she works with, and the people connected with it.

I would define her as an extraordinary assistant, as she has background from organizing many different types of events.

She holds a passion for community building and would work well in a dynamic environment within travel, tourism, and hospitality, and or event industry.

She works well on the road and would be happy to move around with any community or company.
