

Elena Hoebeke

26. June 2020

LOYALTY

Elena was employed for almost 6 years in her previous job. She has shown great loyalty throughout her career.

REMOTE FIT

Elena is Norwegian but has lived all around the world. She is well used to work and manage distributed teams worldwide. She works from her home office in Copenhagen, Denmark.

FLEXIBILITY

She can manage many different roles. She has worked as a team leader, research assistant, receptionist, learning and development coach, and much more. She is very flexible.

GROWTH MINDSET

Elena has a number of certifications and licenses that she has obtained over the years. She also has a number of educational degrees to her name and is constantly developing her skills by following trends and online courses.

CV/ONLINE PROFILES

Elena`s LinkedIn is complete with great feedback from former colleagues and others. The CV is also very good and gives a good impression of her many and various experiences.

VOLUNTEERING

Elena has had several volunteer experiences. She is still a business mentor and has been for the last 3 years for business setting up in Copenhagen.

OUR FEEDBACK

Elena has over the years gained a lot of experience and her record of types of roles she has held within her organizations is very impressive. She is a very flexible person but enjoys most of all to work with coaching and development of people.

As a consultant, you will get someone who really understands the mind of people. Her psychology education and background is a highly valuable asset to have in your organization.

She fits in any well-established business but is also a great consultant to get on board with an ambitious startup.

Report by Paul Arnesen