Totally Dedicated to Technology

There are very few recruitment companies that offer the in-depth knowledge, network and enviable track record that comes from being totally dedicated to working in technology for over three decades. Our relationships with individuals and organisations span years and it is this intimacy with the technology sector that enables us to be so effective.

What makes us different?

Track Record

For over 30 years our business has continued to adapt to the ever changing needs of our customers. Time and time again we have delivered, there isn't a problem we haven't encountered or a solution we haven't developed.

100,000+ placements

10,000+ contractors on assignment worldwide

600+ Senior technology executives placed into the world's leading organisations

£ Millions saved for our customers through delivery of our Workforce Solutions

Global Reach, Local Touch

We pride ourselves on our flexible, personal approach and in-market presence, and combine this with the established methodologies, scale and reach of the overall global Harvey Nash Group. This dedication to providing our customers with tailor-made and flexible solutions, whatever their needs, has seen our brand become the global business it is today.

Our Research & Insights

Our industry leading research guides us and our customers, and includes the Harvey Nash CIO Survey - the world's largest study of technology leadership and trends - and Tech Talks podcast, which won Computing's Innovation Ambassador award.

Diversity - Leading the Debate

Since our first inclusion network, established in 2008, Harvey Nash has been at the forefront of promoting diversity. We have published numerous white papers, been recognised by the UK government for our work and became the first recruitment company in the world to be accredited by EY's National Equality Standard.
