A large, brightly lit Christmas tree stands on the right side of the image, its branches covered in multi-colored lights (red, green, yellow, and blue). A large red star sits atop the tree. To the left of the tree, there are several vertical light displays, including one with a spiral of multi-colored lights and another with a starburst pattern of white lights. The background is dark, suggesting a night scene. In the bottom right corner, a group of people is visible, standing near the base of the tree.
