Bringing Hope to Children Since 1871

From the President's Desk

by Julie Hager Love,
President/CEO

I will never forget a request that Ruth Wiertzema, a staff member of Red Bird Missionary Conference, made at a conference I attended. She held up a windshield from a toy car and asked us to really look for children as we drove around our neighborhoods. She called us to value those children, to keep them in our prayers and to imagine how we could make a difference in their lives.

Seeing children and youth has been central to the history and mission of Kentucky United Methodist Children's Homes for over 150 years. From the very beginning, when Methodists were called by God to see orphans and widows after the Civil War, to the 1970s-1980s when we saw the need to care for youth who experienced abuse and neglect, to our more recent expansion of our community based services focused on prevention.

As we move into our future, we continue to see the needs of children, youth and families in our Commonwealth. We see trauma for all ages due to the COVID-19 pandemic, and Kentucky saw the additional trauma of the horrific December tornados throughout the western part of our state.

We believe that every person is an individual of worth, entitled to God's gift of wholeness of life. We invite you to look out your windshield and see the children and youth in your community. Join us as we live out God's love by addressing the needs we see, making a difference in the lives of children and young people with our prayers and our actions.

Lemonade Stands Can Teach Life Lessons

by Corrie Merricks,
Member of Wilmore UMC

My kids and I love to make a “summer bucket list” so we can intentionally spend time as a family. I think it’s important to add acts of service to our family’s list; it’s my dream to raise Jesus-followers! Doing acts of mercy with our families doesn’t have to feel intimidating. If we can do a few intentional things, we’ll make memories together and impact our kids’ lives.

A creative idea for our summer is a “Lemon-AID” stand to raise funds for the Kentucky United Methodist Children’s Homes (KyUMH). Inviting our kids to participate in loving our neighbors can be spiritually formative for them. In Luke

6:36, Jesus tells his followers to “Be merciful, just as your father is merciful.”

By teaching our kids about children who are suffering and inviting them to give some of their money away, we are inviting our children to do what Jesus taught us.

Inviting our kids to participate in loving our neighbors can be spiritually formative for them.

Talking to our children about Kentucky’s child welfare crisis can feel intimidating. It’s difficult to share with our children that kids like them can be victims of trauma or neglect. Despite this challenge, my husband and I think it’s important to do this. We can share this information with our kids compassionately and gently, all while inviting them to join KyUMH (and Jesus!) in our mission to love our neighbors—John Wesley told us to ask: “And is this commandment written in your heart, ‘That he who loveth God love his brother also?’ Do you then love

So this summer, my kids and I are going to grab a table on a hot summer day and set up our Lemon-AID stand, with proceeds donated to KyUMH! Giving my kids ownership over a project like this will impact them significantly. And we will be sure to let our customers your neighbor as yourself?”. Sharing with our children that kids like them suffer right here in Kentucky helps them to grow in empathy and compassion so they can learn to love their neighbors as themselves.

know that their donations will benefit children in Kentucky who are victims of abuse and neglect.

How Jon Built the Life He Wanted

BY REBECCA MERRILL,
COMMUNICATIONS/PUBLIC RELATIONS COORDINATOR

Jon around age 13

Ever since Jon can remember, all he wanted was a normal life. He wanted a stable family, where he was happy and felt he had purpose. Thanks to positive influences in his life like the Kentucky United Methodist Children's Homes (KyUMH), Jon has now built the life he dreamed of as a child.

When Jon was about two years old, he and his five siblings were placed in foster care until their mother could get back on her feet and care for them.

Jon remembers feeling displaced, abandoned and alone, and yet, he says, "I always had something inside of me that wanted a better life..." Everywhere Jon went, he looked for positive influences to see what his life could be like.

Being away from his mother was hard. Despite the kindness of his foster families, all he wanted was to go home. When Jon was thirteen, a new option became available: KyUMH's Mary Kendall campus in his hometown of Owensboro.

The life and relationships he found at KyUMH showed Jon that the normalcy he was looking for did exist.

"It gave me an opportunity to see what normal living should be like," Jon remembers. "It's normal to have clean sheets. It's normal to have nutritious meals. It's normal to have someone who cares about you, to ask you questions, to care for your safety, to care if the doors are locked at night."

[structure]alone put me on the road to where I am today," Jon says.

Jon lived at KyUMH twice, both times as a transition between a foster family and his mother's home. When he was eighteen years old, he moved to Texas to live with his older brother, years of active duty, Jon joined the Army Reserve and got a job back home in Owensboro. He is married with a blended family of two sons and a daughter.

He focuses on sharing what he's learned with his kids and other young men like him. Jon says, "Hopefully I'll be the positive influence for my kids, and I can teach them what I have learned. And they'll be better than I was, and their kids will be better than they are...I want to pay it forward."

Thank you for your prayers and support for the youth we serve like Jon. Together, we can help them build a life of purpose and impact future generations!

"I always had something inside me that wanted a better life."

And it was small moments too, like being awakened for school gently by a caring staff member, or early morning routines like making his own breakfast with other kids, that helped Jon realize he wanted the stable life that KyUMH provided. "I think that who became Jon's next role model. Jon got a job and studied for his GED, and eventually joined the military. "The military opened up so many doors for me, and it gave me such a feeling of worth and accomplishment," Jon says.

Now, Jon has built the life he dreamed of. After three

THE POWER OF One Caring Adult

"Whoever receives one child like this in my name receives me; and whoever receives me does not receive me, but him who sent Me."
- Mark 9:37

by Melinda Ryles-Smith,
Vice President for Development

My mother is one of the most amazing women I know. When she was only 6 years old, an equally amazing woman rescued her by taking her in as a foster child. Her name was Anna Dalton, and the compassion that she gave my mother continues to weave itself through the generations. I feel the impact of Ms. Dalton's love in my life through my mother's love and nurturing. I have shared it to the best of my ability with my wonderful family. The love of one caring adult can transform the lives of multiple generations.

Have you felt a similar thread of love in your own life because of a maternal or paternal figure who showed you the extravagant love of God? The amazing and resilient children we serve have not always experienced the same maternal or paternal love as others. But, if my mother's story has taught me anything, it is that at any moment, a child's life can forever change if we are willing to stretch that thread of God's love a little farther. Sharing that love has been the mission of hundreds of staff over the years at KyUMH who became that caring adult and forever changed the trajectory of a child's life.

As we continue to celebrate our 150 years of service, I invite you to honor that special person who made a difference in your life by designating a gift through your will in their name. Your gift will help children know that the love of God is deep, wide, and unconditional. Your legacy of love will be the foundation supporting this ministry for decades to come.

THE BASICS OF TRAUMA-INFORMED CARE

We believe each child is a person of worth, entitled to God's gift of fullness of life. One of the ways we help them heal is by staying up to date with proven counseling methods. Read here about Trauma Informed Care and how it shapes everything we do at KyUMH.

by Caitlin Bryant, LCSW, Vice President of Programs and Services, Nicholasville Campus

Trauma-informed care is a critical foundation of the services we provide at the Kentucky United Methodist Children's Homes (KyUMH). It is a lens through which we look to understand and meet children and families right where they are.

Before we even get a chance to learn about our clients, we know they are survivors of trauma. Trauma results from exposure to an incident or series of events that are emotionally disturbing or life-threatening with lasting adverse effects on an individual's functioning and mental, physical, social, emotional, and/or spiritual well-being. Trauma-informed care helps us create the sense of safety and belongingness that is necessary for children to heal, learn and grow.

The essence of trauma-informed care is a shift in our view of others- a change in perspective wherein rather than asking "what's wrong with you?" we instead consider "what has happened to you?" When we reframe the lens through which we view people we become better able to understand who they are, what they are dealing with, and how best to support their healing.

At KyUMH, we understand that there are no "bad" kids, rather there are individuals to whom life has not been kind. The very skills and behaviors they developed to help them survive those traumatic experiences may suddenly look like "problems" or "bad behaviors" when they transition to a safe and stable environment. When we approach client care through the lens of what has happened to them, we're able to reframe the problem and better identify what is needed to overcome obstacles and heal invisible wounds.

Most clients begin their treatment journey with us guarded, reluctant, and often afraid or angry. We aren't able to change the circumstances that brought them to us but we can partner with them in developing a pathway forward.

Partnership with the client is key, but in order for partnership to develop the walls must first begin to come down. Establishing safety is the first and most critical priority in helping a client begin their journey toward healing. Once safety is established, trust begins to emerge, and it's with this foundation of safety and trust that true healing and lasting impact in an individual's life becomes possible.

Through the trauma-informed care model, we are able to help youth build a better life for themselves and their future families.
