God's Work

God's vvork
TEXT: Matthew 25:14-30; 1 Peter 4:10,11
KEY VERSE: Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear. — Hebrews 12:28
In this parable a master distributes talents to his servants according to their abilities, to be put to profitable use. Expressions such as, "using his talents well," are probably derived from the figurative use of the word talents. In this lesson we will draw a parallel between the monetary talents mentioned in the parable and the talents or abilities God entrusts to us. We will find that those who choose to use their talents in God's work are rewarded by Him, while those who are unfaithful and careless with their talents will not only miss the blessings in store for them, but will suffer eternal loss.
1. In dealing with this parable a number of facts are presented:
How many talents did each servant receive?
Why did they receive different amounts?
From whom did the servants receive their talents?
For what purpose were they given?
When the lord of those servants returned, how many talents did each have?
2. Even though this parable was given in reference to monetary talents, in what way could it be similar to,
or have a spiritual parallel to a Christian's experience?
3. Make a list of talents or abilities that you believe can be used in the work of the Lord.
4. In the Biblical parable, it is apparent that the servants did more than just put their talents out to the exchangers, or to gain interest. How do you suppose the servants increased their talents?
