A document processing solution crafted for Canadian Descartes customs brokers.

How much are repetitive data entry activities costing your business?

As your organization is growing, the natural option is simply to increase the size of your data entry team to process larger volumes. The nature of your business is to process time-sensitive customs documents as quickly and accurately as humanly possible.

Today's customs clearance professional is an experienced knowledge worker that needs to be well trained to be effective at their job.

Unfortunately, these teams are spending 50-75% of their time simply data entering what is on the provided documents and much less time leveraging the training and experience that will deliver the most value.

Current processes do not support a flexible work environment such as:

Work from Home

Work Remotely

Outsource Work

EasyClearance

A document processing solution crafted for Canadian Descartes custom brokers

What if you could introduce a digital workforce to automate the repetitive tasks?

Windmill has worked with Descartes to design and deliver a cloud based industry leading customs clearance solution that offers deep automation to the manual repetitive tasks required to clear shipments.

With Windmill EasyClearance, processing multi-line, multi-page, and multi-currency commercial invoices become easier and faster as invoice line data is extracted by the software solution and ingested by your Descartes application.

“ In addition to the productivity gains from Windmill EasyClearance, the solution has freed up time for our people from the mundane, data entry tasks. That has allowed us to focus our resources on compliance and customer service, which gives our clients a better overall experience. Windmill has been very responsive in helping us achieve those goals.
