Distributor's notes

100% Moscatel from Quilaco in Florida (which geographically belongs to the Biobío region but from a winemaking standpoint is considered Itata due to the granite composition of the soil), where Moscatel is Queen accounting for about 85% of total vineyard plantings. These grapes come from a single hectare of 25 year old vines from a husband and wife growing team in the coastal range at about 350m of altitude. The grapes are hand harvested, destemmed and go through a 2 week fermentation with skin maceration before pressing into stainless steel and then finishes ancestral fermentation in bottle under crown cap for around 6 more months. Unfined, unfiltered, low sulfur addition at bottling. Very limited production, less than 1,200 bottles.
