ABOUT

Alicia Juhl is an audit manager in the Chattanooga office. She brings clients over 15 years of extensive public accounting experience in audit review and preparation of financial statements for an array of industry sectors including governmental, employee benefit plans, and non-profit organizations.

With Alicia's experience, she is able to guide staff and clients through unforeseen unique challenges. Clients consider Alicia a trusted member of their team providing expert guidance in reporting challenges and working together to meet compliance deadlines. During each unique engagement, Alicia enjoys sharing best practices and efficiencies in an effort to provide the most value during the audit experience.

Alicia is a member of the Association of Government Accountants, and is certified in Advanced Defined Contributions Plans through the AICPA.

Outside of the office, Alicia enjoys her time with friends and family, her husband Keith and two sons, Ian and Elliott and enjoys cooking and reading. Alicia is also involved in community outreach and volunteers as finance chair for her church.
