ABOUT

Todd Solomon has helped businesses to plan and execute major moves such as mergers, acquisitions, and transitions for more than 20 years. He has helped them to seek capital for growth through investment partnerships or venture capitalists. His wide range of experience also includes international and multi-state tax planning and compliance. His clients consider him to be a trusted partner.

Todd joined HHM in 2011 as a senior tax manager. He works mainly with closely-held businesses and their owners. He holds specific expertise in real estate, manufacturing, and distribution. He is familiar with the issues that are common – and is adept at forming strategies that aid companies in each of those industries. He also provides tax and advisory services to many other industries. He is quick to share his years of insight with the younger CPAs at the firm.

He most enjoys interacting with each client. He is skilled at helping them to navigate complex tax issues. From researching a foreign investment or transitioning their business to the next generation, he is able to assist them.

When he's not hard at work helping his clients, you might find Todd playing golf, tending to his vegetable or flower gardens, or cooking. He enjoys life with his wife and their two boys.
