BA (H) FILMMAKING

Bella Barnes is an aspiring filmmaker, whose passion for watching films heavily influences her films. She's directed the short film, Creep and produced the documentary Furries: Behind the Mask. Bella's recent film, Wish You Were Here was made under the difficult restrictions of Covid 19 showcasing her ability to adapt and problem solve. In her role as director she demonstrated her talent in adaptability and collaboration in all aspects of filming through successfully taking on additional roles in production, editing, sound and music adaptation. Through this, Bella was able to expand her skill set is both pre and post production enhancing her reputation as a confident and well organised filmmaker. Bella has now completed her final year at NTU and is excited for all the new opportunities that will open up for her and the new experiences she will gain in her journey to becoming a successful filmmaker.
