

QUINN LOVERO

BA (H) GRAPHIC DESIGN

Hola! My name is Quinn Lovero and my passion lays in anything creative. When I was 8, my older brother downloaded a pirate version of Photoshop CS3 and I was amazed at what he could do, so I couldn't stop myself trying. I like to think of that moment as the spark that started my creative journey. Fast forward ten years and I moved to the UK ready to start my course in Graphic Design at NTU. Together we pushed through a global pandemic and two quarantines. But it wasn't all dark. I've been able to learn loads in that time, and have adapted to a world where digital experiences dominate. I realise the importance of creativity for the betterment of the world, specially in times of struggle. I like to think of my work as showcases of my ability to learn new techniques and explore new disciplines. The kind of projects I want to be working on in the future are projects that don't just push me, but also push the world forwards. If you want to chat about my work, don't hesitate to contact me.
