

PAULIUS BRAZAUSKAS

BA (H) GRAPHIC DESIGN

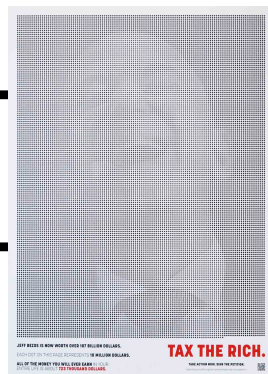

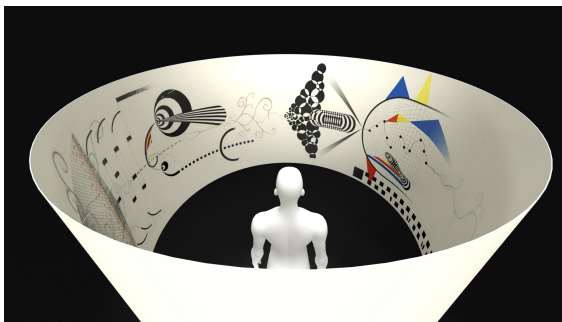

Moving from Lithuania, I gained the experience of living in another culture which allowed me to look at the world with a wider view. This characteristic has stuck with me ever since and is reflected within my creative work ever since I was introduced to it, at the age of 11. In my opinion, I think it is important to approach a project with an open mind and allow the problem to lead you to the specific solution, rather than approaching the project with a predetermined solution to the problem which can restrict the project in multiple ways. I enjoy using creativity as a tool for manifesting and spreading values that I believe in; I think as designers we have a certain level of responsibility to understand that our work has the potential to influence society.
