

JD DONGYEON CHO

BA (H) FASHION DESIGN

I majored in Womenswear at Nottingham Trent University, and I was able to consider fashion design and art through various projects to find my own iconic mood during my university life. The source of my design is inspired not only by my precious memories, but also what I have experienced, and I have seen. Through the inspiration, my collection is interested in creating, structuring, and challenging new things in various ways. I enjoy to experience variety techniques and methods that can be expressed in fashion. I dream of becoming a fashion designer with an infinite spectrum of designs that can show various designs and styles. When I wear beautiful garments, I fascinate by the happiness and confidence. Likewise, I want to make collections that can boost the confidence of the people who wear my clothes and become a designer that can coexist happiness and value.
