At Emory University’s Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing, we are committed to educating visionary nurse leaders and scholars; and the Emory Nursing Learning Center was created with these students in mind. Thank you to all who have supported this dream - faculty, staff, students, friends, alumni, and donors!

More than a building, our new Center is part of a larger community – Emory University, Emory Healthcare, our clinical partners, the City of Decatur, DeKalb County, the state of Georgia, the region, the country, and the world. Together, we will continue to advance nursing care, facilitate superior education and open the door to innovations in science.

We have built the best – for the best and brightest. Welcome to the Emory Nursing Learning Center!
