

Introducing Encompass

You don't have to settle,
expect a new normal
from your end-to-end facility services provider.

Encompass delivers better outcomes for facility managers

Streamline building management processes and save time with Encompass

From construction to long-term planning to day-to-day operations, Encompass supports facility management departments that work with a portfolio of buildings. You have several buildings to keep in top shape. With housekeeping, HVAC, plumbing, construction, groundskeeping, and so much more falling in your purview, you need a facility partner who can support your countless responsibilities.

Facility Management Just got "Smarter."

Much like how the smartphone made life easier, Encompass's facility management software will do the same for your job. Our program is included free of charge for all customers and makes managing your maintenance needs simple.

Managing work tickets, automating workflows, tracking key performance indicators (KPI), and making data-driven facility decisions is easier than ever with our software. What was once likely tracked with a complicated Excel spreadsheet is now a dynamic tool that allows you to manage a wide array of buildings and personnel from your desktop.

Not a computer person? That's okay.

If this robust platform isn't for you, that's okay. We will still track this critical information for you and create a custom dashboard with reporting for you, so you only see the data you need.

About Encompass Onsite

Encompass onsite uses a combination of facility professionals and technology to support facility management teams.

We deliver top-notch building service providers to building operators and owners who work with a broad portfolio of facilities and use our proprietary facility management platform to streamline and systemize the process.

Your facility management department will save time and money by removing inefficiencies and wasted time sourcing contractors while also using technology to make data-driven building management decisions.

"Encompass is a once-in-a-generation company. We have assembled a community of professionals like none other, and the opportunity ahead for all of its customers, employees, and partners is enormous."
