

Duty of Care Policy

Introduction

As educators governed by Good Samaritan Education in the Order of St Benedict, we at Santa Maria College are a learning community committed to professional dialogue and capacity building for all. We are charged with the responsibility of leading in matters of Faith, Learning and Wellbeing through the framework of the One Community: Three Villages model. As a College committed to holistic learning, we aim to foster respectful relationships for all by nurturing an optimal learning environment. This occurs within partnerships where every student can flourish within the context of our Catholic community and imagine her life, and the lives of those around her, in new ways.

Purpose

Santa Maria College, in partnership with parents, guardians and carers, who are the primary educators of their children, is entrusted with the holistic education of each student. All staff therefore have a duty of care to students to take reasonable care to avoid acts or omissions that they can reasonably foresee would be likely to result in harm or injury to the student, and to work for the positive wellbeing of each child. The Education Training and Reform Regulations 2017 (Vic.) (sch 4 cl 12) require that schools must ensure that the care, safety and welfare of all students attending the school is in accordance with any applicable state or Commonwealth laws, and that all staff are advised of their legal obligations under those laws.

Duty of care is an element of the tort of negligence. In broad terms, the law of negligence provides that if a person suffers an injury as a result of the negligent act or omission of another, the injured person should be compensated for loss and damage flowing from that negligence.

To successfully bring a compensation claim in negligence, a person must establish on the balance of probabilities that:

- a duty of care was owed to them at the time of the injury
- the risk of injury was reasonably foreseeable
- the likelihood of the injury occurring was more than insignificant
- there was a breach of the duty of care or a failure to observe a reasonable standard of care; and
- this breach or failure caused or contributed to the injury, loss or damaged suffered.

The fact that a duty of care exists does not mean that a school will be liable for an injury sustained by a student or other person. In order to succeed in a negligence claim, all of these elements must be established.

Scope

Duty of care applies to all sites under the control of the College and applies to all members of the College Leadership Team, teaching and non-teaching staff members, casual relief teachers, volunteers and contractors engaged by the College.

Duty of care is a matter for the whole organisation. It is not just confined to the geographical area of the College but also to school activities that occur outside the College where a student is acting on a staff member's instructions. The duty also applies to situations both before and after school where students can be assumed to be under the teacher's care. Consideration must be given to the age and capacity of children in care with greater attention required for younger students or students with disabilities.

Teaching and non-teaching staff members owe a duty of care to students within their care, and, but not limited to, parents, student teachers, volunteers, visitors or contractors who may sustain injury, loss or damage as a result of our conduct.

The College owes a duty to take reasonable care that any student (or other person) on the premises will not be injured or damaged because of the state of the premises, including things done or omitted to be done to the premises.

Principals and teachers are held to a high standard of care in relation to students. The duty requires Principals and teachers to take reasonable steps to minimise the risk of reasonably foreseeable harm from injury or child abuse to students by an individual associated with the College whilst the child is under the care, supervision or authority of the College.

Duty of care is non-delegable, meaning that it cannot be assigned to another party.

Whenever a teacher-student relationship exists, teachers have a special duty of care. Generally, teachers are expected to take such measures as are reasonable in the circumstances to protect a student under their charge from reasonably foreseeable risks of injury or child abuse.

Definitions

Duty of care is a legal obligation that requires schools to take reasonable steps to reduce the risk of reasonably foreseeable harm, which can include personal injury (physical or psychological) or damage to property. The reasonable steps that our College may decide to take in response to a potential risk or hazard will depend on the circumstances of the risk.

Principles

In having a duty of care to students, Santa Maria College will:

- ensure compliance with the eleven Child Safe Standards
- provide suitable and safe premises
- provide an adequate system of supervision
- implement strategies to prevent bullying
- ensure that medical assistance is provided to a sick or injured student
- manage employee recruitment, conduct and performance.

Policy

Santa Maria College has policies and procedures to manage common risks in the school environment (including physical and online environments), including:

- bullying prevention and intervention (including cyber-bullying)
- camps and excursions
- child safe standards
- codes of conduct for parents, students and staff
- emergency management
- employment and management of staff
- health and first aid policies
- mandatory reporting
- occupational health and safety
- student wellbeing and engagement
- supervision of students in class and in the school yard
- procurement for facilities and services from third parties.

The Principal and school leaders have the responsibility for ensuring that all staff, as well as support personnel, are familiar with the Duty of Care Guidelines and the implementation of relevant policies.

All staff and relevant personnel have signed a code of conduct in relation to child safety.

Parents are advised of College policies regarding supervision of students, including times for before school and after school supervision, through College communication. Reminders are issued at regular intervals. College staff, parents, carers and students are encouraged to speak to the Principal to raise any concerns about risks, hazards or duty of care obligations.

Evaluation

- This policy will be reviewed in consultation with members of the wider community as part of the College's two-year review cycle of its child safety practices.
- Update of the policy will occur if any new requirements come to hand.
