Customer collaboration-focused success

Agile model for project management

Pn Automation utilizes several methodologies when managing projects. When appropriate, we utilize the Agile methodology for project management and execution when customer collaboration is central to the success of the project.

When it comes to execution of the custom software development project, Pn Automation utilizes SCRUM, an implementation of the Agile methodology. This enables Pn Automation to deliver the business value in the shortest time. SCRUM also advocates project management as a shared value-creation process with teams working and interacting together to deliver the greatest value. Lastly SCRUM allows Pn Automation to focus on iterative development, focused on managing changes and building mobile solutions that satisfy our customer needs.
