Speed kills... costs.

Go from upload to review in a fraction of the time. Do more with the resources you have.

Many ediscovery tools are difficult to use and require too much overhead to manage. Other tools that strive for simplicity end up sacrificing functionality and flexibility.

Organizations often try to solve these shortcomings by using multiple tools. But without integration, the flow of data from one tool to another becomes a real chore. Importing and exporting data can be inefficient and error prone, making it hard to scale processes across matters and resulting in copies of data across dispersed systems. And separate solutions means multiple billing triggers, making for unclear costs and unpredictable budgeting.

What is Spectra?

Spectra is Lighthouse's cloud-based platform for ediscovery and compliance teams. It's ideal for those who want flexibility; you can use Spectra for internal investigations and matters you want to handle in-house, while having the option of seamlessly transitioning these cases to full-service support with Lighthouse experts.

We've wrapped the most capable tools in the business with our own proprietary automation, expertise, and a simple, intuitive user experience. From small, quick matters to those with massive data volumes, Spectra is designed to make managing the process seamless and easy.

FAQs

Why cloud? While Lighthouse manages Spectra's infrastructure, you enjoy security, scalability, and high availability, without bearing the cost of owning and managing hardware.

Why multiple software partners? Because we think it's the best way to deliver best-of-breed tech, choice, and innovation to you - both today and tomorrow.

What's your approach to analytics? We make it easy for you to have the best tech. In addition to Relativity Analytics, Spectra fully integrates Brainspace for powerful, intuitive data analysis and visualizations.

Why do you offer access to Lighthouse's full-service team? If your investigation or matter can be done in Spectra without our help, awesome. If not, we can seamlessly take control, without starting over. It's the best of both worlds.

What's your pricing? We offer multiple models, from a la carte to fixed fees. We understand that not all of our clients have the same business needs, and we try to accommodate that. We make it easy to try Spectra, too.

What about security? For Spectra, you can use secure user controls to run as many separate matters as you want, each with its own security. And Lighthouse has the most advanced security in the industry, hands down.

How does Lighthouse add value? Not only is Spectra full of proprietary, time-saving automation and expertise, but we will help you build custom templates that will make your workflows even faster.

Are you integrated with Microsoft 365 and Advanced eDiscovery (AED)? Yes. We have a deep and long-standing partnership with Microsoft, and we fully support their AED vision.
