bicino welcome

A report is mandatory for the main awards, and in particular poor things, which won the Golden Lion, ed Evil Does Not Exist who received the Silver Lion. Again for the news, we also remember the Golden Lion for Lifetime Achievement awarded to director Liliana Cavani; the Silver Lion for best film direction Captain by Matteo Garrone; the film Il Comandante by Edoardo De Angelis, chosen for the inauguration of the exhibition; and the Italian-Swiss co-production Lubo, by director Giorgio Diritti, to which RAI Cinema, RSI-Radio Televisione Svizzera SRG/SSR, the Federal Office of Culture of Bern, and the Filmstiftung of the city of Zurich contributed.

Once the lights of the Venetian limelight have been turned off, the activity of professionals in the seventh art continues, moving from form to substance, and quickly moves towards the most awaited ceremony: the awarding of the Oscars. To apply, the examining commission, the Academy Motion Picture Arts & Sciences of Beverly Hills, instructs its national delegations to select the works proposed. In Italy, the task is entrusted to the National Association of Digital Audiovisual Cinematographic Industries-ANICA, formerly known as ANICAGIS, which we will meet again shortly.

This first exam begins on September 20th, ends on December 21st, and has an appendix on January 23rd with the official communication of the nominations who will receive the category awards in the final ceremony on March 10th 2024 at the Dolby Teather in Hollywood.

But let's stay in Venice, and comment on two of the most anticipated social events of the 2023 Film Festival. Let's start with the opening one, i DVF Awards.

Promoted by the Diller-von Furstenberg Family Foundation, the stylist Diane von Furstenberg and her husband Barry Diller, the DVF Leadership Awards reward the civil commitment of international opinion leaders.

In alphabetical order, there are five winners of the 2023 edition. Joy Buolamwini, world-renowned academic in the digital field, holder of a PhD from the prestigious Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston, and founder of the Algorithmic Justice League, committed to promoting a responsible use of information technology. The lawyer Amal Clooney, who spoke in Venice with her husband George Clooney, has been involved in the protection of human rights at the highest international judicial bodies for twenty years and is now also present in the Task Force on Accountability for Crimes Committed in Ukraine. The Ecuadorian Helena Gualinga, active in the defense of the climate and in particular of the Amazon forest, the green lung of our planet. Amina J. Mohammed, Deputy Secretary-General and Chair of the Sustainable Development Group at the United Nations. Indo-Canadian Lily Singh, global digital media personality, champion of social inclusion and gender protection. Next, we would like to point out an equally awaited event, which concluded the Venetian event: the Better World Fund, promoted by businessman and film producer Manuel Collas de La Roche. The theme of the 2023 edition was "Women Empowerment", accompanied by a charity auction to support the activities of the Maria Callas Foundation and in particular the creation of a museum. Opinion leader in the world artistic panorama, for Collas de La Roche "the film industry has a fundamental role in promoting social, educational and environmental values", and therefore also "encouraging gender participation contributes to the development of a more equal and inclusive society." The Better World Fund event, moderated by Elisabeth Moreno, former delegate for equal opportunities, diversity and gender inclusion in the French government of Prime Minister Jean Castex, was divided into the masterclass Empowering Women in the World of Cinema, to which three also contributed individual speakers, on the subject of Empowering Women in Business. Among the personalities who attended, known to insiders, we highlight the presence of the actresses Rossy de Palma and Nadia Fares; by the academic Lorrene Ferrandis; of the entrepreneur Karine Gros; from the movie-producers Euzhan Palcy and Tarina Patel; by director Yasemin Şamdereli and entrepreneur Solange Vivens. Separate mention for two personalities known not only by the international jet-set, but also by the general public.

Let's start with Kiera Chaplin, businesswoman, granddaughter of Charlie Chaplin, and great-granddaughter of the American playwright Eugene O'Neill. Last, and not by chance, Valentina Castellani Quinn, who we interviewed recently. Granddaughter of the president of ANICAGIS which we mentioned at the beginning, today Valentina Castellani Quinn is a film producer and continuer in Hollywood, the world capital of cinema, activities and professional visibility in the world of the seventh art that her family has been running for generations. This year, in addition to intervening as panelists at the Better World Fund conference, Valentina Castellani Quinn was present in Venice to present the film ThePerformance, taken from one short story by Arthur Miller, and starring Jeremy Piven, multiple Grammy and Emmy Award winner, the American television Oscars. While waiting to participate in the Rome Film Festival, scheduled from 18 to 29 October, in Venice the American actor was awarded by the jury of the Better World Fund, together with Cateno de Luca, mayor of Taormina, the city from which Valentina Castellani Quinn was nominated in recent weeks ambassador for all initiatives in the artistic, cinematographic and cultural fields in the world.

En su edición de 2023, la Scuola Grande della Misericordia de Venecia, donde se celebra la ceremonia, ha elegido como tema "La belleza de la diversidad".

Este año, el presidente del BWF, el actor y director mexicano Alfonso Cuarón, ha sido nombrado Embajador Honorario del BWF.

Por M. M.

Más de 300 personas asistieron a la Sagrada Familia los días 7 y 8 a la Cena de Gala en la Scuola Grande Della Misericordia en la que se premió la amistad y la paz entre las personas. Entre los invitados se encontró el director y productor de cine francés Arnaud Pivon, actor y productor estadounidense Ethan Peck, directora, guionista y productora de cine o Tony Yeld, fotógrafo y director de cine mexicano, así como el director de cine mexicano Guillermo del Toro, el escritor Manuel Collado de la Roche, presidente y fundador de Better World Fund.

"El corazón de la magia de La Mostra, la edición de la Biennale de Venecia dedicada a las mujeres y cada conciencia sobre el lugar y el poder de las mujeres en el cine".

En la noche de la gala, el presidente del BWF, Alfonso Cuarón, y la presidenta de la Scuola Grande della Misericordia, en presencia de Arnaud Pivon, muchas celebridades apoyaron su sistema de este compromiso, aportando su imagen a una causa que nos introduce a todos. Empoderamiento de las mujeres e imagen de María Callas.

Invitadas y artistas. La Fundación Madrid-Méjico premió a personas comprometidas con causas de justicia, cultura y medioambiente. Para esta edición de Venecia, Santa Yamil Osuna, a título póstumo, por su trágico destino, su valentía y su lucha contra la dictadura, como mujer insombrida que participó en los Juegos Olímpicos. Raquel Marcano, intérprete de teatro, cine y televisión. Paloma Flores Ormeño y Cecilia De Luca, en representación de Better World Fund. Además, el director de cine mexicano Arturo Oña. Solange Vicario recibió su premio presentado por Anwar Elgort, socio benéfico oficial de esta institución.

El 8 de septiembre, en la Scuola Grande della Misericordia, se celebró también una ceremonia titulada "La belleza de la diversidad" para celebrar y homenajear a las mujeres en el mundo del cine.

En la cena de gala tuvo lugar un rico programa artístico con actuaciones de María Elena Irastorza, cantante y actriz intervenciónal con el grupo "Canta al sol"; el pianista y compositor mexicano Luis Fernando López; y Daniel Albulay, flautista, compositor y arreglista profesional de un memorable dueto clásico, todo ello seguido de una ceremonia de premiación y una rifa.

Madame Isabelle che sentisse che emozione è essere a Venezia durante la Mostra del Cinema per presentare un grande iniziativa sociale come quella di

"Women Empowerment"? Una grande emozione. E sempre importante essere presente quando si parla di tematiche così profonde. Nel suo ultimo film il suo personaggio è una signora di classe, avvenente ma violenta, una vittima mai vista creduta. Come mai?

Succede spesso se le persone finiscono più severe cosa sarebbe così.

Il film "La syndicaliste" è un film politico?

È film è una fiction. Lo spazio interpreta personaggi complessi. Come nella vita reale? Fortunatamente è un'emozione se stessa.

Lei ha lavorato molto anche in Italia. Che ricorda lei? Ho lavorato con vari registi italiani come Enzo Balocchi, Marco Bellocchio, Marco Ferreri, Marco Bellocchio ed Enrico Tavasi ed ultimamente con Gianni Amelio, con cui ho girato "L'ora del vento". Lavorare in Italia significa avere e che fare con la bellezza e quindi provare a riceverla in scena.

Durante la serata di gala organizzata da "Better World Fund" si è parlato molto delle donne e il potere dell'informazione sulla loro carica del potere e del potere delle donne nel settore cinematografico. Lei cosa ne pensa?

Dicono che... sta della parte delle donne, vengono. ☺

Since 2016, BWF, Better World Fund, a Paris-based non-profit organisation, has been organising prestigious international events and inspiring cultural programmes. This year again, in the sublime Palazzos of the Ca' Sagredo Hotel and the Misericordia di Venezia, influential individuals from around the world were gathered. As stated by Manuel Collas de La Roche, President and Founder of Better World Fund: "... the BWF edition in Venice will celebrate women, and raise awareness about the place and power of women in the film industry... It is essential to continue supporting and encouraging the involvement of women in all aspects of the film industry in order to create a more equitable and inclusive society for all." During gala evening, which took place on September 8 at La Scuola Grande Della Misericordia, in the presence of Isabelle Huppert, Jeremy Piven, the Soprano Joyce El-Khoury, many celebrities supported this commitment through their attendance, contributing their image to a cause of Women Empowerment in the Image of Maria Callas. Symbolising this theme, Euzhan Palcy, a celebrated filmmaker, has been commemorated for her achievements. She received an honorary Oscar last November and was recognised as the first Black director to win the Silver Lion at the 1983 Venice Mostra. She further garnered a César Award for Best First Work, a historic achievement for a female and Black director. Recently, she was honoured with Medals of Honor from the Society of Dramatic Arts and Composers in France and the French National Assembly. The Better World Fund supported the Maria Callas Foundation, in honour of her centenary, the mission of which is to search and gather archives from all over the world in order to build a museum collection.

Special Appearances

During our gala evening, taking place on September 8th at La Scuola Grande Della Misericordia, in the presence of Isabelle Huppert, Jeremy Piven and Rosy de Palma, many celebrities will support our commitment through their attendance, contributing their image to a cause that engages us all: Women Empowerment in the Image of Maria Callas.

Symbolising our "Women's Empowerment" theme, we will celebrate Euzhan Palcy, a remarkable, committed and internationally acclaimed filmmaker, who has been awarded an honorary Oscar for her career, last November. In 1983, the Venice Mostra honored her as the first Black director to receive the Silver Lion. Since then she won a César Award (French Oscar) for Best First Work, the first César won by a woman director and by a Black filmmaker. Palcy's work has been an inspiration to filmmakers, contemporary artists and novelists. Recently she was awarded with the prestigious Medal of Honor from the Society of Dramatic Arts and Composers in France as well as the Medal of Honor from the French National Assembly.

With the Underlying mission of "Women's Empowerment", the Better World Fund will be supporting the Maria Callas Foundation, in honor of her centenary.

Maria Callas symbolizes a woman empowered by her talent and hard work. Besides her many unknown humanitarian actions, she used her voice and fame to draw public attention to societal difficulties and to inspire other artists to act for a better world. Maria Callas left a unique cultural legacy and inspired generations of artists and music lovers. Forty years after her death, Maria Callas continues to inspire love and fascination.

Venezia, 31 Agosto 2023

Il BWF, Better World Fund è un'organizzazione no-profit con sede a Parigi nata nel 2016 per sensibilizzare l'opinione pubblica sui grandi cambiamenti relativi alla salute globale, attraverso la proiezione di film e documentari e che organizza prestigiosi eventi internazionali, ispirando programmi culturali attraverso azioni concrete. Anche quest'anno, nei giorni del 7 e 8 Settembre, riunirà nei sublimi Palazzi dell'Hotel Ca' Sagredo e della Scuola Grande della Misericordia di Venezia, personalità influenti provenienti da diverse parti del mondo, spinte dal desiderio di influenzare positivamente il futuro della nostra società.

Come affermato da Manuel Collas de la Roche, Presidente e Fondatore di Better World Fund: "Nel cuore della magia dell'80 Mostra Internazionale d'Arte Cinematografica di Venezia, l'edizione BWF a Venezia celebrerà le donne e aumenterà la consapevolezza del posto e del potere delle donne nell'industria cinematografica. Oggi siamo convinti che l'industria cinematografica abbia un ruolo fondamentale come vettore di valori sociali, educativi e ambientali. È quindi essenziale continuare a sostenere e incoraggiare il coinvolgimento delle donne in tutti gli aspetti dell'industria cinematografica al fine di creare una società più equa e inclusiva per tutti."

Benedetta Paravia madrina del Gala' "Better World Fund"

Foto Cover: La stilista Barbara Rizzi con Benedetta Paravia che veste l'abito a lei dedicato "Benedetta"

Dopo il successo di Cannes il Better World Fund, fondato e presieduto da Manuel Collas de la Roche, approda a Venezia. L'organizzazione benefica è sostenuta da molte personalità internazionali tra le quali Sharon Stone, il Principe Alberto di Monaco, le star Americane Akon e Mary J. Blige e la filantropa, artista e produttrice italiana Benedetta Paravia (aka Princess Bee) che dallo scorso anno è tra gli Ambasciatori internazionali. Benedetta è a Venezia per partecipare ai tre i giorni della kermesse del Better World Fund che vede i suoi eventi esclusivi il 7, 8 e 9 Settembre tra la Scuola Grande della Misericordia e l'hotel Cipriani dove vestirà abiti della nuova collezione autunno che la giovane stilista Barbara Rizzi ha voluto dedicare proprio alla sua musa, chiamando uno degli abiti appunto "Benedetta". Per Paravia quest'anno Venezia è molto significativa perché proprio qui il prossimo Dicembre verrà ospitata la sua mostra d'arte di NFT contro le mutilazioni genitali femminili per il progetto "Women in love" che in Ottobre sarà premiato dalle Nazioni Unite alla Camera dei Lords in Inghilterra. Paravia affiancherà Katherine Deneuve che è tra gli ospiti di questa edizione, i cui ricavati saranno devoluti alla David Lynch Foundation americana che cura i traumi da stress post pandemia.

Biografia Benedetta Paravia

Artista poliedrica e creative producer Benedetta Paravia aka Princess Bee è tornata in Italia dagli Emirati Arabi Uniti, dove lavora creando un ponte tra Medio Oriente ed Europa attraverso la cultura, le canzoni, i libri, i programmi televisivi e cross mediatici al femminile, le sfilate e la solidarietà. È l'italiana più famosa nel mondo arabo, icona della sua amata città d'adozione: Dubai. È anche l'orgoglio di Google con il 100% di notizie positive a lei dedicate. Collabora con La Repubblica e RepTV. È laureata in legge alla Sapienza di Roma con una tesi in medicina legale e delle Assicurazioni. È esperta di marketing strategico e di management e sviluppo di progetti. Ha prodotto con successo di pubblico e media una serie crossmediale dedicata alle donne nel mondo arabo. Con il progetto interculturale chiamato "The Intercultural Project" si è occupata per anni della promozione del territorio del centro e sud Italia attraverso visite formative di studenti universitari dagli Emirati Arabi ai nostri territori promuovendo l'inclusione e la comprensione reciproca tra le due culture.

Corriere della Sera esalta Better World Fund: "Nel 2024 a Taormina"

TAORMINANEWS24

TAORMINA - Il Corriere della Sera, in un approfondimento a firma dell'invia Valerio Cappelli, evidenzia il grande spessore del World Better Fund, evento svoltosi nei giorni scorsi a Venezia, nell'ambito della Mostra Internazionale dell'Arte Cinematografica. Il BWF 2023 ha visto protagonista anche la Città di Taormina ed in questo contesto è stato premiato il sindaco Cateno De Luca. E proprio la Perla dello Ionio ora punta a diventare dal 2024 la nuova "casa" del Better World Fund.

"Si trattava - scrive il Corriere della Sera - del forum internazionale, ideato da Manuel Collas de la Roche insieme con l'affascinante produttrice Valentina Castellani Quinn (suo marito era Francesco Quinn, il figlio del grande Anthony scomparso nel 2011, a 48 anni, mentre giocava con i figli). Il forum, che ha voluto focalizzare l'attenzione sulle cause umanitarie nell'arte e nel cinema, ha dedicato spazio al «Potere delle donne nel mondo del cinema», annunciando che la prossima edizione si svolgerà a Taormina". «L'industria cinematografica - dice de la Roche - offre modelli positivi che sfidano le aspettative tradizionali e incoraggiano l'emancipazione delle donne. Questo aiuta a creare una società più equalitaria e inclusiva». I proventi della serata di gala saranno devoluti alla Fondazione «Maria Callas, nel centenario della nascita, il soprano «che simboleggia il talento di una donna passionale e del suo duro lavoro».

Taormina verso la nuova fondazione: intesa tra Comune e Better World Fund

Taorminanews24

TAORMINA – Prende forma la nuova Fondazione "Taormina in the World" che il Comune di Taormina intende costituire ed avviare in tempi brevi.

Dopo l'annuncio ufficiale dato venerdì scorso dal sindaco Cateno De Luca al Gran Galà del Better World Fund, a Venezia, la casa municipale accelera e si è svolto questa mattina un incontro operativo al Palazzo dei Giurati tra il primo cittadino di Taormina, il presidente del Better World Fund, Manuel Collas De La Roche, e la produttrice Valentina Castellani Quinn, esperta del sindaco di Taormina per la promozione e valorizzazione del brand Taormina nel mondo. All'incontro era presente anche l'assessore al Turismo, Jonathan Sferra.

Il BWF è stato fondato nel 2016 con l'obiettivo di sensibilizzare l'opinione pubblica sui grandi cambiamenti relativi alla salute globale attraverso la proiezione di film e documentari e l'organizzazione di prestigiosi eventi internazionali. L'organizzazione si distingue per il suo impegno nella promozione di programmi culturali e azioni concrete finalizzate a un mondo migliore.

Better World Fund: A Cateno DE LUCA il premio come sindaco ... DI VENEZIA!

Luxury Investment Magazine

Celebrare il progresso dell'umanità verso l'uguaglianza ... Quest'anno, l'80a edizione del Festival del Cinema di Venezia intraprende una missione profonda in un mondo in cui le storie modellano le percezioni e ispirano il cambiamento. Sotto i riflettori c'è il Better World Fund, un'organizzazione no-profit con sede a Parigi che, dal 2016, orchestra eventi internazionali e programmi culturali progettati per promuovere cambiamenti significativi". Così scrive il LUXURY INVESTMENT MAGAZINE, una rivista patinatissima per veri milionari se non di più, commentando un evento prestigioso ed anche questo patinatissimo che si è tenuto ieri sera a Venezia. E fra i premiati indovinate che c'era? Anche Cateno De Luca! Premio "alla carriera" scrive lui. Un riconoscimento che l'organizzazione assegna ogni anno a persone scelte nell'ambito dell'impegno strategico dichiarato dalla beneficenza dorata di questa organizzazione. Ben fatto, comunque, e complimenti a De Luca che però sulla stessa rivista viene indicato come segue: "IL SINDACO DI VENEZIA CATENO DE LUCA". Di certo Cateno è zar delle due Sicilie, sindaco dei sindaci, sindaco d'Italia, ma di Venezia ancora no! Ma come direbbe Totò: "La faranno, vedrà, la faranno!"

'There's an art to it all': Tarina Patel's stunning looks at the Venice Film Festival

News24

The Cape Town-born film producer has developed the art of red-carpet arrivals by boat. "Venice is unique in that you arrive at the red carpet by boat," she explained to News24.

"Upon arrival, there's just so many photographers waiting, and it's tricky because you've got a voluminous gown with a huge skirt and high heels. You can't hit your head, you can't mess up your hair and makeup, you can't get your gown wet, and the sun is glaring. So there's an art to it all, and finally, I think I'm getting the hang of it!"

Patel is preparing for Friday's Better World Fund Conference as an invited speaker joined by a distinguished panel of global filmmakers and industry executives.

The stage was none other than the venerable La Misericordia Di Venezia, and the occasion was the prestigious Better World Fund Gala on September 8th, organized by LUXURY LIMITED EDITION, a testament to both his exceptional talent and his commitment to using music as a force for positive change. This remarkable event, held in honor of the esteemed Maria Callas Foundation, unfolded amidst the splendor of "La Mostra Di Venezia", where the world's cinematic elite gather. In this breathtaking setting, Daniel showcased his mastery as a flutist and pianist, seamlessly moving between these two instruments with breathtaking virtuosity. His flute became the conduit through which emotions flowed, transcending mere notes to create an immersive experience, while his fingers danced across the piano keys, adding layers of depth and complexity to his performance. The audience, with celebrities like the incomparable Isabelle Huppert, whose presence exudes both grace and talent, Jeremy Piven, a charismatic icon of Hollywood, the trailblazing Euzhan Palcy, the luminary Nadia Fares, and the tireless champion of social justice, Elisabeth Moreno, was spellbound by this dual musical virtuosity. This was an evening where artistry effortlessly merged with activism, where culture intertwined with compassion. It was a testament to Daniel ALHAIBY's multifaceted musical legacy, which added yet another illustrious chapter to the chronicles of cultural excellence. As the music and film stars converged under the historic roof of La Misericordia Di Venezia, they collectively celebrated the power of music to inspire change, leaving an enduring resonance in the hearts of all fortunate enough to bear witness.

L'attrice francese Isabelle Huppert, 70 anni.

IO STO CON LE GUERRIERE INVISIBILI

Al cinema Isabelle Huppert porta la storia di Maureen Kearney, la sindacalista irlandese che dieci anni fa fu aggredita brutalmente in casa. Qui la diva francese spiega perché la vicenda ha fatto di lei una guerriera invisibile e lavoratrice e venne accusata di essere stata una bugiarda, può ispirare ancora molte nostre battaglie

Ogni volta che arriva a un festival trasforma il tappeto rosso in un palcoscenico. I riflettori e gli applausi sono tutti per lei, che non si scompone mai. Il pubblico della Mostra del Cinema di Venezia grida "Isabelle" e Huppert si volta e accenna un sorriso enigmatico come gran parte dei suoi personaggi. Vanta oltre 120 film, a cui si aggiunge adesso La verità secondo Maureen K., ora al cinema. Collezionista di premi in tutto il mondo, sta per riceverne un altro alla carriera il 25 settembre al Lucca Film Festival. Quando la incontro al gala veneziano Better World Fund 2023 Women Empowerment le chiedo se sia stanca: «E tutte le donne lavoratrici che devono badare a famiglie, carriere e vite private che cosa dovrebbero dire, allora?». Parliamo dei diritti delle donne. Dopo il MeToo a che punto siamo? «Quei movimenti hanno portato a una presa di conoscenza collettiva molto importante. Sono venute a galla cose drammatiche che le donne nel mondo hanno dovuto subire e che in qualche parte continuano a subire. Credo tuttavia che ci sia tanto da fare. Ci sono tante guerriere ancora invisibili». Come attrice lei si è ritagliata uno spazio centrale nel cinema. «Mi sono impegnata, ma non ho mai preteso o pensato di essere una vincente. Neanche i personaggi che scelgo lo sono. Meglio, trovo più fascino nella vulnerabilità. Come la donna che interpreta in La verità secondo Maureen K.

«Mi interessava portare sullo schermo una donna decisa a usare tutto il suo potere per salvare migliaia di posti di lavoro. Non risponde all'idea standard di una sindacalista, eppure si batte eroicamente. Il prezzo che dovrà pagare, tuttavia, sarà molto alto». Viene brutalmente aggredita e non sarà creduta da nessuno.

«Il mistero è la parte che più mi interessava raccontare. Lo scetticismo verso l'altro, le diffidenze: viviamo un momento storico in cui sentiamo mettere in discussione ogni giorno una cosa diversa. Maureen da vittima viene vista come una bugiarda, in ballo ci sono gli interessi dei potenti in un mondo dominato dagli uomini». È un thriller spiazzante anche perché tratto dalla storia vera di Maureen Kearney. L'ha conosciuta? «Sì, è venuta sul set. Ma non ho imitato nulla di lei, tranne i capelli biondi e gli occhiali».

Tante donne quando denunciano non vengono credute. Perché? «Da attrice non mi pongo mai problemi etici. Non mi interessa se le donne a cui do corpo e voce siano veramente vittime o carnefici, se siano sincere o menzognere. Anzi più i colori sono sfumati e lontani dal semplice bianco o nero, più la donna che interpreto mi interessa».

Perché l'ambiguità l'attrae tanto? «Perché è una chiave per racconta re le persone per quello che sono, senza mediazioni benpensanti, moralistiche, religiose o altro». Si è mai sentita, come Maureen, di dover combattere contro un sistema molto più grande e potente di lei? «Siamo donne diverse, con storie altrettanto diverse. Ma penso che in fondo ogni donna sperimenti nella sua vita la sensazione di ritrovarsi a lottare per quello in cui crede, trovando dentro di sé una forza e una ferocia che non credeva di avere. Maureen mi ha molto ispirata, in questo senso». Perché? «Era una sindacalista, non immaginava di dover affrontare processi e battaglie davvero aspre, eppure ha saputo costruirsi intorno un piccolo feudo in cui ha deciso di resistere. Non corrisponde al cliché della vittima, non la vediamo impazzire o disperarsi, mantiene alta la grinta mentre è impegnata a difendersi dai sospetti implacabili che le piovono addosso. Non ho mai badato alla sua innocenza o consapevolezza, mi interessava piuttosto il percorso, la battaglia, il dibattito che ha generato la sua storia e che persiste ancora oggi». Lei lavora instancabilmente e il 23 e 24 settembre sarà al Teatro Argentina di Roma con Lo zoo di vetro di Tennessee Williams durante l'Europa Festival. Predilige il cinema o il teatro? «Il teatro mi consente il lusso dell'astrazione, al cinema sono più ancorata alla realtà, ma la sostanza non cambia: resto la stessa attrice. Quanto al mio presunto essere instancabile la verità è che per me lavorare è un piacere. Lo è sempre stato, dal primo giorno della mia carriera a oggi».
