TACTICAL ANALYSIS

BUILDING UP

He has great skills to build-up from the back, both by making line-breaking passes and driving the ball forward. He breaks defensive lines through his driving ability and technical gestures.

COVERAGES

He has a great timing to mark on the sides. When a through ball is made, he has the right tempo to make a diagonal runs and then anticipate the ball. He does good movements off the ball.

AERIAL PLAY

He does not just help in defense when the rival tries a long ball or a lateral cross. He also has good attacking characteristics. He has scored many goals by stepping into the box.

TACTICAL ANALYSIS

DEFENSIVE 1V1

He makes different types of marking, but there is something in common: he does not allow the rival to advance effortless. He is always near him in order to unbalance and regain the possession.

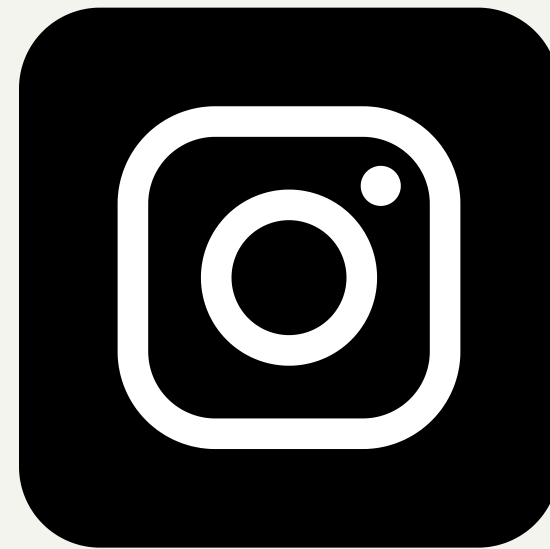

LONG PASS

Another of his main skills to build-up from the back is his long-range passing technique. He does not just creates play from the back, he is able to make diagonal deliveries to attack the weak side or just okay directly.

INDIVIDUAL TECHNIQUE

He has a great individual technique. Also, while moving forward, he can be seen making a dribble to get away from the marker. Due to these skills, he is capable of playing as a stopper and fullback.
