Selection Criteria for Directors

The Board should consider the advice of the Committee with respect to the following functions. Prior to nominating or appointing individuals as directors of the Corporation, the Board should:

- (a) determine the competencies and skills they consider to be necessary for the Board, as a whole, to possess. In doing so, the Board should recognize that the particular competencies and skills required for the Corporation may not be the same as those required for another;
- (b) assess what competencies and skills each director of the Corporation possesses. The Board should note that it is unlikely that any one director of the Corporation will have all the competencies and skills required by the Board. Instead, the Board should consider the Board as a group, with each individual making his or her own contribution. The Board should also pay attention to the personality and other qualities of each director of the Corporation, as these may ultimately determine the boardroom dynamic; and

- (c) consider the appropriate size of the board, with a view to facilitating decision-making.

Recommendation to the Board

The Committee should identify individuals qualified to become new Board members and should recommend new nominees for director of the Corporation for the next annual meeting of shareholders. In making its recommendations, the Committee should:

- (a) identify the desired competencies, expertise, skills, background and personal qualities that are sought in potential candidates;
- (b) annually review these criteria to determine whether any amendments are required or whether there are any gaps in the skills of the existing directors of the Corporation;
- (c) identify and recommend individuals qualified and suitable to become directors of the Corporation, taking into consideration any identified gaps; and
- (d) maintain a list of suitable candidates for the Board.

The following characteristics are necessary for new candidates being considered for nomination, as well as for existing directors of the Corporation:

- (a) a reputation for integrity and ethical behaviour;
- (b) a demonstrated ability to exercise judgment and communicate effectively;
- (c) financially knowledgeable;
- (d) prominence in the individual's area of expertise;
- (e) previous experience relevant to the operations of the Corporation; and
- (f) sufficient time to dedicate to Board and committee work.
