

Santa Paula Housing Authority

Executive Director

Salary: $96,000 - $108,000

THE COMMUNITY AND ORGANIZATION

The original community that has become known as Santa Paula was established by the Chumash Indians as the villages of Mupu and Srswa. In the early 1900's, Santa Paula was considered the pre-Hollywood film capital, the "Queen of the Silver Screen." The community is a major distribution point for citrus fruits in the United States and is also noted for avocado producing and processing. The community has a quaint, small town image, ideal climate, and reasonably priced housing. Santa Paula maintains its own identity and is in close proximity to the many tourist, recreational, and cultural activities that abound in Southern California.

The Santa Paula Housing Authority was established in 1969 and serves a population of approximately 35,000. During this entire time period, the Authority has only had three executive directors with the current and retiring incumbent having served for the past 35 years. Many of the employees are long-term staff as well. The staff oversees eligibility, leasing of properties, landlord recruitment, and tenant relations. The Board is comprised of seven residents of Santa Paula who are appointed by the City Council and serve four-year terms.

The Authority serves 577 families with Section 8 housing choice vouchers ($5.5M budget) and it has 117 units that are owned and operated by the Authority ($575k budget for operations) – maintenance is contracted out. There is no immediate funding for building new units and there is currently a waiting list of approximately eight years, so the need to identify more funds for additional vouchers is of paramount importance. Historically, the Authority has been adding new housing buildings to its portfolio every 1 – 2 years.

The ideal candidate will enjoy working with an experienced staff that has low turnover, a positive work environment, and a culture built around serving the target populations.
