

SCORDATURA

Privacy Policy (February 17, 2021)

Thank you for engaging with Scordatura. We are committed to protecting your personal information and your right to privacy. If you have any questions or concerns about this privacy notice, or our practices with regards to your personal information, please contact us at info@scordatura.io.

This privacy notice applies to all information collected through our services (which include, but may not be limited to, our comments forum, subscription to blog updates by email, and anonymised information gathered by embedded services such as Podbean, Youtube and Social Media platforms that you share our content with, and applications connected to the website such as Webflow, Powr and Google Analytics).

If you subscribe to receive our email communications, we will store the email address and name you provide, and any consent for communication that you give.

None of your data, including your email address, name or browsing information will ever be passed on by us to third parties for marketing or profitable purposes. We may, however, keep any contact details you provide for easier communication and to enhance your use of the website comments. We are also obliged to share information with your consent, to comply with laws, to provide you with services, and to protect your rights.

If you have any concerns, please don't hesitate to contact us on info@scordatura.io.