Could we generate conversations between human beings that facilitate positive transformations, in order to reach this noble goal?

We are gathered here in Nice to have such conversations together, and to radiate them out to each of our separate regions.

This conference illustrates the enthusiastic commitment of our entire community to valuing the common good, as illustrated, for example, by the 17 Sustainable Development Goals of the United Nations.

The program is exceptionally rich in diversity, demonstrating the abundance of initiatives fostering hope all over the world. In each of the more than 30 countries represented here, practitioners and researchers are devoted to ensuring that individuals, families, businesses, health institutions, local authorities, and many more human communities experience the power of positive transformation brought by Appreciative Inquiry.

The various workshops will enable you to participate in moving, stimulating, and engaging exchanges. You can access the program on your smartphone or laptop and choose your own exciting path. The tool swapcard is at your disposal.

Over these next four days, you will meet people who share the desire to make a positive contribution to the world. We wish you a warm, lively, and inspiring conference!

Let's make Nice a land of conversations between appreciative communities from around the world!

VILLE DE NICE

Good tips in Nice!

We have taken to heart to propose Nice as the host city for WAIC 2019.

Formerly called Nikaia, Greek goddess of victory, her historical past leaves us with the Agora, the city's social and political gathering place where conversations took place.

Today Nice offers an enchanting setting to enjoy encounters and make beautiful discoveries in this highly appreciative city.

We recommend below some places from Jean-Christophe Barralis, our Niçois.

Cuisine niçoise

La Petite Maison: typical nicois restaurant
The place to be ! - 11 Rue Saint François de Paule

Le Tchitchou: the best to enjoy Niçoise cuisine!
29 rue Georges Clémenceau

L'Escalinada: Niçoises grandmothers' recipes served for more than 60 years- 22 rue Pairolière

Acchiardo: Four generations have run this restaurant since 1927 - 38 rue Droite

A Buteghinna: 11 rue du Marché

Chez Pipo: the best socca in Nice - 13, rue Bavastro

René Socca: The other best socca in Nice!
Rue Pairolière

Cuisine Italienne

Alto Resto: For me the best Italian restaurant in Nice
10 rue Fodéré

La Voglia: for huge plates of pasta!
2 Rue Saint-François de Paule

Cuisine française et méditerranéenne

Café Paulette: the chef is the son of a friend of mine,
French and Mediterranean cuisine -
15 rue Bonaparte (Place du Pin)

La Fine Gueule: traditional cuisine with nice owners!
2, rue de l'Hôtel de ville

L'Ecurie : the picturesque and family restaurant
par excellence in Old Nice. - 4, rue du Marché

Bring back a little piece of Nice with you!

Le goût de Nice: grocery store; typical food from Nice
34 boulevard Jean Jaurès

Confiserie Canel: Candy store run by Severine Kluger's (Ai practitioner) mother and sister -
21 rue de France

Boutique Fragonard: the famous perfumes of Grasse - 11 Cours Saleya

The recipe of the real Niçoise salad

4 fairly firm round tomatoes, 4 eggs, 2 cébettes (or small onions), 8 beans (small beans), 5 small purple artichokes, 1 green pepper, 200 g of tuna natural, 4 anchovy fillets in salt, Nice black olives (if possible), a few basil leaves, a few mesclun leaves, 8 radishes, olive oil, pepper, salt

You'll never find in a real Niçoise salad: rice, potatoes, green beans, corn...!!!!

Christian Estrosi

Mayor of Nice

Chairman of Métropole Nice Côte d'Azur

Vice-Chairman of the Sud-Provence-Alpes Côte d'Azur Region

“ We must learn to communicate
more effectively,
understand others
better and make ourselves better
understood by others
through a joyful and well-meaning flow of speech and meaning.”

The human relationships that structure our daily lives are very mysterious things. To a large extent, it is these relationships on which - if not our happiness, then at least a certain level of wellbeing in our personal and professional lives - depends.

If we choose to come together as a society, isn't it because we want to live better lives?

To do that, we must learn to communicate more effectively, understand others better and make ourselves better understood by others through a joyful and well-meaning flow of speech and meaning.

Isn't that what we call participatory democracy?

And that's precisely the core of the policy I've been pursuing for the past ten years.

So naturally, I am delighted that this international congress, which has brought so many scientists, psychologists and consultants together, is being hosted by the Institut Français d'Appréciative Inquiry in my city.

And indeed the preconference in a renowned centre of thought and education: our Centre Universitaire Méditerranéen, which has been intimately connected with poet, essayist, and philosopher Paul Valéry ever since its inception.

He would undoubtedly have been a fervent supporter of the appreciative approach, and of the collective intelligence advocated by the Institute.

I would like to take this opportunity of thanking its leaders and founders Jean-Christophe Barralis and Jean Pagès for their commitment.

The revolution you invite us to join with is one for positive change towards embracing two values: self-esteem, and respect for others through productive, healthy emulation.

This is a very valuable message for our society now in crisis, where talking is too often confused with invective.

Let us hope that the insight provided by your discussions will herald a return to the dialogue and trust required to recreate the conditions needed to put in place the feelings of wellbeing we all aspire to.
