INTRODUCTION

We are a tech consultancy company, specialising in complex project and programme delivery to get the job done. We are paving the way for your business to unlock its full productive potential.

Whether it's a custom web application, an intranet, data centre modernisation, or implementing cloud strategies, we help our clients to solve business challenges using cutting-edge tech and our proven, agile delivery method.

We focus on maximising the value of our customers' IT and business processes.
We accomplish this by effectively delivering your project, while simultaneously transferring new skills and techniques to your workforce. All of which, leaves you with the capability to maintain the solution once we are done.

NTEGRA'S APPROACH TO END-TO-END DEVELOPMENT

NTEGRA'S APPROACH TO END-TO-END DIGITAL DEVELOPMENT

The solutions we build are carefully defined to address the exact needs of our clients. We make a point of delivering on time and to budget, exceeding expectations every time. Our ethos is one of honesty and transparency, that's why we've been long-term partners with so many of our clients and 92% of our business comes from personal recommendations.

Prototyping at an early stage is what our clients love most. We can both advise on the scope of your project and show you the prototype to bring the solution to life. Not only does this give you something tangible to review, it helps to demonstrate the value of the project to all stakeholders, even senior members not directly involved.

From the boardroom suits, to the boots on the ground Prototyping brings the project to life for everybody

Prototyping is also a powerful method of refining the exact needs of our clients, giving you the peace of mind that we fully comprehend your goals and objectives. As a core component of our agile development methodology, a prototype rapidly enables both you and ourselves to work in a collaborative, iterative way. Your insight will have a direct impact on refining and expediting the delivery of the project.

NTEGRA'S APPROACH TO END-TO-END DIGITAL

Encouraging the adoption and engagement of our solutions is another area where Ntegra excels – it is our business to ensure your business successfully adopts new technology and tools. Increasing the adoption rate of the solution leads to greater ROI and benefit realisation for you. Your teams need to feel confident in new processes and ways of working, if your business is to gain genuine, additional value.

Finally, when it comes to post-go-live support and project handover, we don't just leave you to figure it out on your own. Instead, we communicate throughout the lifecycle of the product, ensuring that the final handover is a routine effort. All necessary documentation and onboarding support have been designed to empower your own continued development. We do this with you, not to you.
Our robust QA and test management protocols ensure a high degree of accuracy, we'll find any bugs and squash them before you do. This thoroughness reduces the number of in-production issues, which ultimately means less time testing for you.
