Australia Day Breakfast

On Australia Dav celebrate all we the things we love about Australia: land. sense of lifestyle, fair go, democracy, the freedoms we enjoy but particularly our people.

This will be the focus of Walcha's Australia Day Breakfast in the Park this Friday with the presentation awards to those in our community who have contributed through their voluntary work and sporting pursuits being recognised in our Citiz nship Awards.

While enjoying your breakfast you will also have the opportunity to listen to music by Howard Greenwood and Barbara Dunn, as well as poetry by Gordon Edmonds. The children haven't been forgotten with Sand Art activities throughout the morning. Walcha Historical Society will also have a display in the Park for you to wander through.

This year we are fortunate to have the inspirational Nicholas Gleeson as our Ambassador. Nick will give our Australia Day address and it is one not to miss as over the years he has built up an enviable reputation for public speaking. Nick has that rare gift of being able to convey a serious message that of overcoming the challenges of living with blindness - with warmth, humour and honesty.

He was born in the working-class Melbourne suburb of Broadmeadows in the 1960s, back when a cricket bat was a piece of wood borrowed from a Nick's life changed forever at age seven when an electronic swinging supermarket door hit him on the side of his head, causing a retinal detachment.

- 7:30am Breakfast in the Park $8 per head or $25 per family CASH ONLY
- 9:00am Ceremony begins with raising of the Australian flag, Bush Poet Gordon Edmonds and address by our Australia Day Ambassador, Nicholas Gleeson followed by presentation of Citizenship Awards. No Lamingtons will be available for sale this year due to retirement.
- Wet weather venue: Walcha MPC

He attended a boarding school for children who were blind and was one of the first of his peers to finish Year 12. Nick went on to complete a Bachelor of Arts at Melbourne University - no mean feat considering the difficulty a person who is blind faced in accessing information back then.

Despite his academic achievements, Nick's great passion has always been sport and adventure. He has represented Australia in athletics on three occasions, racing in America, England and Hong Kong. He also played blind cricket (much like the traditional game, but using an audible ball) for almost 20 seasons, representing Victoria, New South Wales and Australia.

Much of Nick's success as a speaker is down to his ability to bring his sporting and travel adventures to life. These include three times crossing the finish line in the New York City Marathon, carrying the Sydney Olympic Torch, racing up the 1,576 steps of the Empire State Building and completing the gruelling 90km from Durban to Pietermarith urg in the Comrades ultra-Marathon.

Although these situations are ex raordinary to most of us. Nick's down-to-earth nature and compelling descriptions of what he smelt, heard and felt at the time enable the listener to place themselves in his well-travelled shoes. Nick will be travelling to Walcha with his Guide Dog Jarvis.

By SIMON NEWTON

The rain last week was ideal for many but once again it was ex remely patchy around the district and tablelands. Falls of between 50-60mm fell in the east while most of the district recorded between 20-35mm. Parts of western NSW recorded more than 100mm which will get the grass growing. I was west of Barraba last week and they are having an exe ptional season with feed around their knees, it's a remarkable turn around when only back in November they were just dirt. The second tropical cyclone is forming off the coast of QLD which is once again set to bring heavy rain and flash flooding to large parts of the QLD coast. The cyclone looks to be entering QLD a far way further south than cyclone Jasper which may also drive some decent moisture south to us.

The conflict continues to rise in the Red Sea as an Australian live eport shipment of sheep and cattle has been turned around and sent back to Australia due to safety concerns. The Red Sea is a major shipping channel from Australia to Europe and the Middle East and the vessels travelling this path have been under attack from the Yemenbased, Iran backed Houthi rebel group. These attacks started back in November with doe ns of attacks on commercial ships in the Red Sea which has forced the end dus of shipping companies from that region. The continual attacks threaten to disrupt supply chains and increase consumer prices on everything. Food, fuel and our ability to market agricultural goods to the world will be under pressure affecting our farm gate prices. These continual attacks have forced United States and the United Kingdom militaries to step in with force.

Not only are we having issues with the freight channels in the Red Sea, but it seems an industry dispute on our Australian ports is escalating. The dispute is between the Maritime Union of Australia and Stevedore DP World which is affecting all the East coast ports in Australia where DP World operates. DP World is one of the largest container freight service providers for incoming and outgoing trade movement and the renewal of DP World's agreement with waterside workers has stalled. Just like the rest of Australia they are asking for a large pay rise and now we are confronted with work stoppages and a 24-hr ban on loading and unloading trucks and trains at ports this Friday. These stoppages are costing our nation $80 million a week and the longer this dispute goes on the worse our ability to deliver product to port and get it on these vessels to the world. Some ships have already cancelled from their unloading and loading out of Brisbane due to strikes. The government needs to step in and help sort this mess out as it affects everyone's back pocket. We need to get our produce to the world, guickly and efficiently, otherwise they will look elsewhere as we will be known to be unreliable.

The beef market continues its gradual rise with grass continuing to grow in the paddock and a huge reduction of direct consignment cattle being held back from feedlots and processors, as producers now have the ability to fatten. Tamworth yarded 2650 cattle which saw most classes of cattle sell to dearer trends. Light weight restocking steers sold to a top of 428c/kg while the heifer portion made to 366c/kg. Feeder weight cattle were in demand with increases of 10-20c/kg and topping at 358c/kg for steers and 336c/kg for heifers. Well finished kill cattle topped at 308c/kg for steers and 300c/kg for heifers while the cow market was 20c/kg dearer topping at 267c/kg. Tamworth yarded 2400 sheep and 2000 lambs which saw lambs sell to cheaper and mutton sold to a dearer trend. Trade weight lambs sold from $110-155 depending on condition and weight while the heavy ep ort lambs topped at $205. Heavy be ewes topped at $125, dorpers to $100 and merinos topped at $73.

The local rodeo took centre stage on Saturday night, and it was great to see a great turnout for the annual event. This year event was a little different in that we saw plenty of locals take part in the rodeo, competing in events suitable for local competitors.

The local Rams sales are in full swing this week so be sure not to miss your chosen seedstock producers' sale.

Emily to represent Walcha at the Young Woman Zone Final

From Pip Monie, Walcha Show Society

Not only does Emily Scrivener work at the Walcha Telecottage, helping with secretarial duties and getting the Advocate to print each week, she is also the Walcha Show Society's Young Woman representative at the 2024 Zone Four Finals.

Emily is an ambassador for the Walcha community, the agricultural industry and for rural youth with her involvement in equestrian, woodchopping and beef cattle shows, along with her voluntary work in community events such as the Walcha Show.

Emily believes the The Land Sydney Royal Ag Shows NSW Young Woman Competition is an opportunity to share both experiences and issues faced on the land with other like-minded, inspiring young women and that it provides a platform to develop both personally and professionally.

On Saturday 10 February Emily will travel to Tamworth to represent Walcha at the Zone 4 Final. From there, two winners will be chosen to go to the Sydney Royal Agricultural Show in March to compete for the title of The Land Sydney Royal AgShows NSW Young Woman of the Year.

We are very proud of your achievements Emily and wish you lots of luck at Zone.

Fabric and old curtains come to life again

The Nowendoc Hay Bale Twine Collective very ladies have generously made Clothing Protectors and donated them to the residents of Apsley Riverview.

There are about ladies who ten meet in Nowendoc Tuesdays for exercises and then they either plait baling twine to make dog leads or sew the clothing protectors using donated fabrics which may otherwise ended up in landfill.

Local Nowendoc resident Sue Lyon embellished some with Christmas motifs or beautiful lace to add interest to the garments.

The staff and residents are very pleased with the generous donation from the group and thank the ladies very much.

The ladies will gratefully accept any donations of unwanted fabrics, even old curtains can be reused.

Rugby Camp fun

Ten budding young Walcha rugby players enjoyed four days of training last week, learning from rugby professionals at the National Rugby Camp in Armidale. Walcha Ram Lambs fielded players in three age divisions:

Under 14's .....Hamish Clark

Under 12's ......Angus Fletcher, Digby Clark and Flynn O'Connell Under 8's ......Harry Fletcher, Levi Williams, Max Martin, Archer Clark,

Harry & Archie King

The camp provides a unique opportunity to 'live in' (stay on site at TAS) and get a full holistic Rugby ex erience with focus on the on field and off field development. NSW RUGBY Development and Coaching staff provided all the on field curriculum and coaching with off field development around nutrition, flexibility and strength.

The boys learnt ball familiarisation, agility and evasion, tackling and ruck, catch and pass skills and finished off the camp with a morning of rugby games.

The children all had an amazing couple of days making new friends and learning new skills. "The Junior club would like to thank the Senior Rugby Club for their financial assistance in helping get the juniors to the National Rugby Camp Under 8's pictured below with NSW for 2024. Hopefully, the children learnt some valuable skills to help them on their road to becoming a Walcha Ram," Trina Fletcher commented.

The 12 & 14 year olds went into camp on Sunday 14th and stayed at TAS over three nights and four days.

Vets Cricket hits town

By A.J. Cross

The weather gods smiled down when Walcha hosted a four team over 60's Veteran Cricket competition on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week.

Out at John Oxley Sportsground on the first day New England defeated Port Jackson in a thriller that went right down to the wire, passing their assignment of 190 runs in the final over with just one wicket up their sleeve.

During that game former Colts player Craig Stoddart hit the only half century of the tournament playing for New England scoring 56 before he was run out, with victory just a few runs away.

Each batsman can either score 30 runs or face 30 deliveries before they are required to retire, but can return later in the innings if their teammates are dismissed.

The same day Mid North Coast 4/140 rounded up Hunter Taveners 139 at Peter Fenwicke Oval and then the following day won their first Michael Collins Memorial Shield, when they rolled Port Jackson 9/189 to 9/153 at the same venue.

The Michael Collins Memorial Shield is played between the two clubs in honour of the former Parramatta Rugby League Player who played cricket for both Mid North Coast and Port Jackson.

Bernie Brady saddles in the feature film 'Just a Farmer'

From Leila Sweeney

As I was writing Just a Farmer I could visualise every scene unfolding in my mind. Every detail, from the characters' clothing to the backdrop of each scene, played out in my imagination. My writing process is an immersive ex erience; the story takes on a life of its own, often I have no idea where it is going to end up.

I have things from my life that I wanted to include that have a significant meaning to me and in some ways a reason why I wrote this story.

During my teenage years, I spent many weekends at Brady's Saddlery. I would repair rugs, fix broken tack, and do some odd jobs around the workshop. I would listen to Old Tom's captivating stories and humorous anecdotes. Though Tom has since passed away, he and Bernie are renowned as two of Australia's finest saddle makers. It was during my time at the Saddlery that I gained an appreciation for the importance of a high-quality saddle and the craftsmanship that goes into making one. My natural creativity and passion for crafting were encouraged by Bernie, who patiently listened to my youthful, often unconventional ideas and dreams for the future.

You may wonder how these stories tie into the film Just a Farmer. In the film, I insisted that all the saddles used be Bernie's, and I wanted to feature one of his Australian Stock Saddles in a particular scene. The saddle showcased in the film is a custom creation made by Bernie for me, and it holds a special place in my heart. It is comfortable, fits all my horses perfectly, and will outlive me, but the best thing about it is that I feel safe in it. Bernie knew ex ctly what the saddle needed to suit me, and he gave it just enough bling for my tastes.

Old Tom once told me that one couldn't work at a saddlery without mastering the art of cracking a whip. He taught me the intricacies of various whip types, including stock whips of different lengths and bullock whips. He even guided me in whip-making, although I'll never match his plaiting skills. As we worked on our whips, Tom told me with stories of his younger years as a stockman.

My father, too, had his own experiences working as a station hand and drover in Western Australia. I loved listening to these stories, as they were shared by men who had truly lived the lives of stockmen and drovers. These stories profoundly influenced my portrayal of Alec, the farmer in Just a Farmer. Alec embodies the essence of an Australian stockman. His attire consists of practical work clothes, his daily uniform, and he rides proudly in an Australian Stock Saddle.

Donate your drink bottles to help our swimmers

Walcha Swimming Club are encouraging locals to help them with their fundraising by donating drink bottles which they can recycle for cash.

"We have a yellow bin at the pool and the money we raise through the 'Return and Earn' program will allow us to provide our young swimmers with breakfast after squad training, as well as assisting us with our swimming awards," Swimming Club President Yolanda Mooney said.

Most drink containers can be donated, just look for the 10c label on the container to see if it is eligible for a refund. Remember to leave the lids on when returning your containers as they can be recycled too.

Good to go: most drink bottles and cans

These containers are most commonly found as litter in NSW. They're often consumed 'on the go'.

- Cans (e.g. soft drinks)
- Bottles (e.g. beer bottles)
- Cartons
- Juice box s or poppers

Most containers between 150ml and 3 litres are accepted and can get you a refund. However, they must...

Have the label attached.

Look for the 10c label on the container to see if it is eligible for a refund.

Sanity prevails south of Walcha in the New England Renewable Energy Zone

Member for Northern Tablelands Adam Marshall MP has welcomed the decision by NSW EnergyCo to remove the southern-most pieces of electricity transmission infrastructure proposed by the department as part of the New England Renewable Energy Zone (REZ).

"Finally some sanity has prevailed with EnergyCo and we are getting some sensible decisions being made that reflect the reality of the local situation and community views," Mr Marshall said.

"Everyone in Walcha has known for some time that there were no, and should be no, renewable generation projects happening south of Walcha.

"The farmers don't want them, haven't signed up for them and have made it clear they have no plans of ever doing that.

"So if they don't want to host renewables then why was EnergyCo planning for an enormous electricity substation and transmission lines south of Walcha?

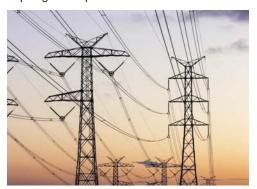

"It simply didn't make sense, when there are other landholders in other areas happy to host renewables.

"Finally we are starting to see common sense prevail and evidence that EnergyCo is listening and is going to plan a renewable energy zone that actually matches on-the-ground reality." Mr Marshall said that while EnergyCo was yet to make the change public, he had confirmation that it had begun informing impacted landholders, as well as Walcha Council.

The change will see the south electricity hub (one of five proposed) and associated transmission line removed from the REZ.

"I've been pushing the Minister and EnergyCo to start making the New England REZ work for those of us carrying the impact of the renewables transition," Mr Marshall said.

"I consider this decision a step in the right direction, but there needs to be many more, and I'm putting EnergyCo on notice that our communities will continue to advocate and demand outcomes which benefit us, not just the aspiring developers."

Winterbourne Wind ... What will we hear?

For a wind project to be compliant, the noise level from the turbines should not exceed 35dB(A) or the background noise plus 5dB(A), whichever is greater.

So, what does 35dB sound like? It is similar to the sound of a quiet library or a soft murmur. OK, not too bad.

But there is more ... What is background noise plus 5dB? Background noise is 'measured' by the developer, then 5dB is added. This now becomes the allowable noise from the wind farm. The background noise plus 5dB for the Winterbourne project means some households have allowable noise levels of 41dB. Again, not too bad.

Unless ... the developer's sound report 'underestimates' the noise from the turbines or 'overestimates' the background noise. Unfortunately, the developers are focused on maximising the number of turbines, not minimising the noise nuisance to nearby residents. This is particularly the case if the developers are also supplying the turbines (Vestas).

Voice for Walcha commissioned a Peer Review of the Winterbourne Wind Noise and Vibration Assessment (NVA) which was undertaken by Les Huson and Associates on behalf of the Walcha community because of concerns around some of the findings in the noise assessment undertaken by Sonus on behalf of Winterbourne Wind. This review questions - on a number of grounds - the validity of this assessment.

This Peer Review states ...

66 The NVA significantly underestimates the noise impact in the community surrounding the proposed wind farm by at least 14dB."

If we add 14dB to the projected noise levels of non-involved households in the proximity of the Winterbourne Wind project, the noise resulting from the windfarm could be 55dB or higher.

What does 55dB sound like? 55dB is the sound of moderate to severe snoring. Remember, this is 24 hours a day at residences that do not receive any financial benefit from this project. Adding 14dB means some involved residences may have noise levels of 60dB.

This is obviously a major concern for all residents who live in the vicinity of the Winterbourne Wind Project. It should also be a major concern for the developer and the host landholders. If a project is found to be non-compliant, even if it has been approved by the Planning Department, this can result in the turbines being shut down and damages awarded to complainants. A possible interpretation is that the Host Landowners can be forced to take on the role of developer, therefore may be responsible for the noise nuisance that occurs.

It is in the whole community's interest to ensure a compliant noise and vibration assessment is undertaken by Winterbourne Wind to ensure noise compliance before the project is progressed through planning. On this front, Winterbourne Wind Farm are very quiet. To date, there has been no commitment that this community commissioned Peer Review will be addressed. In fact, there has been no acknowledgement at all.

If anyone is concerned about noise caused by the proposed Winterbourne Wind Farm, please get in touch with Voice for Walcha.

It was great to catch up with a few old familar faces when the veterans Over 60's cricket carnival was held here in town last week either blokes I had played cricket or footy with or against over the years. Besides that one little hiccup curator Daniel Boyd did a great job preparing both pitches at Peter Fenwicke Oval and John Oxley Sportsground. Good on ya Daniel.

In just under 40 years of living at our current residence at Apsley Street I have witnessed a few blue tongue lizards present but thankfully no snakes. Well up until last Sunday around lunch time when a five foot black snake slithered down the side of the house. Not as bad as the tiger snake that entered the premises at the Newie last Saturday morning before opening hours. It was relocated by snake catcher Brad 'Dr Dolittle' Keable.

With the way the hot weather is predicted over the next few days one of the best places to be this afternoon would have to be the annual Pool Party held at the Walcha Memorial Baths. Supported by the Walcha Council entry is free as is the sausage sizzle from 5pm and the inflatable obstacle course will be on offer from 1pm to 6pm. Mad if you miss it.

Walcha/Uralla completed their Armidale and District T20 competitions with a win in both 2nd and 3rd grades against Guyra at Rologas No 1 ground in Armidale last Saturday. In 2nd Grade Walcha/Uralla set their opponents a total of 131 off their 20 overs while losing seven wickets along the way.

Number four batter Shannon Rafferty scored an unbeaten 45 and put on an 82 run seventh wicket partnership with Cooper Boyd who made 37.

Man of the match Boyd then backed up to snare 5/15 off his four overs whereas opener Matt

Harper, Ed Blomfield, Daniel Boyd and Ben Hall all picked up a wicket each to dismiss Guyra for 69.

In 3rd grade Guyra posted a modest total of 59 off their 20 overs after Walcha/Uralla opener Cameron Mooney tore through the top order capturing four wickets during his first 14 deliveries before ending up with 4/9 off four overs.

The other wicket takers were Matt Tasik 2/11, Chris Watts 2/15 and Nathan Swan 1/13.

Walcha/Uralla passed their assignment with five overs up their sleeve losing five wicktes in doing so.

At the Nineteenth

Playing off a handicap of one, club champion Andrew Bowden scored an incredible 42 stableford points off the back of a five under par 65 last Sunday to win a club trophy. Runner up was his father Jamie on 37 pts.

While the remaining sweepstake prizes went to Miles Archdale 36, Jenny Lisle 34, John McLaren 34 and Wayne Brennan 33 in a three way countback with John McCormack and Junior Hamish Warden.

Sharpest shooters at the pins were Margaret Davidson (3) and Jamie Bowden (16). In match play Miles Archdale defeated John McCormack 2 up and James Norton rounded up club head honcho Allan Green 2 and 1. Last Saturday Crichton Barr accumulated 20 points to win the weekly 9 hole competition ahead of Jenny Lisle on 17 points which included the N.T.P on 3.

The previous Saturday club greenkeeper Mark Hogan got the job done with 20pts, runner up was Jenny Lisle after she racked up 18 points whereas Lorraine Rennie hit the most accurate tee shot at the third pin.

This Sunday is a Multiplier Draw for partners where Wayne Brennan and former English Wrestler Mal Ballard are in charge of supplying the prizes.
