Keith Williams Architects

Founded in 2001, Keith Williams Architects (KWA) is by reputation one of the UK's leading architectural design practices with a body of work which incorporates a series of exceptional high profile award winning projects for clients in both the private and public sectors.

Recipient of 40 architectural awards, KWA works internationally for private and public sector clients on civic, cultural, residential, commercial, and city masterplanning projects, and is a leading designer of museum, gallery, library, and performing arts buildings. The firm has undertaken global projects valued from £1 million to £300+ million in the UK and Ireland, as well as Austria, Canada, Denmark, Dubai, France, Germany, Italy, Malaysia, Norway, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia, Sweden and Switzerland.

Key clients include:

- Athlone Town Council, Ireland
- City of Lloydminster, Alberta, Canada
- Marlowe Theatre, Canterbury
- More London Developments, London
- Natural History Museum, London
- Staatstheater Karlsruhe, Germany
- Unicorn Theatre, London
- Wexford Festival Opera, Ireland

"We would have no hesitation in recommending KWA as a practice that is capable of producing inspirational, innovative designs and also work well at a practical level."

John Walsh, Town Clerk
Athlone Town Council, Ireland

"Within the envelope of a wonderful example of the best in 21st century architectural design, Keith Williams has provided us with a stunning 1200-seat main house."

Mark Everett, Theatre Director
The Marlowe Theatre

"the building has also been highly commended by audiences, artists and critics for its excellent acoustic, superb staging and production facilities, and its very relaxing and comfortable ambience".

David McLoughlin, Chief Executive
Wexford Festival Opera
