

Ocean Impact Bottle. The Solution to the Plastic Crisis.

Plastic, Great! I like the idea of plastic.

Easy to handle two-litre plastic bottle.

It's amazing food wrap, cleans like magic.

50% more plastic.

From mobile phones to medical equipment, we owe a lot to plastic. It's a part of life. A part of us. But our relationship has become toxic. The material that's helped drive our progress is now destroying our planet, and developing countries are paying the price. This is Kontari. Ocean Bottle connects you to collectors like her on the front lines of our ocean plastic crisis. Together we're making plastic valuable again, turning worthless trash into worthwhile opportunities.

Enabling people to exchange plastic for money and digital tokens, giving them access to healthcare and education. With a system that tracks plastic from the moment it's collected through to processing and recycling, Ocean Bottle is building a new economy for plastic, one that turns our plastic problem into a force for good.

In collaboration with plastic bank, every Ocean Bottle fronts the collection of one thousand plastic bottles and stops them from entering our oceans. This is Kontari's story in Bali, but there are many more. Be part of it. One thousand for one. Ocean Bottle.