My name is Dor Sagiv, a passionate Visual & Motion Designer.
I have been designing for about 6 years now, but this recent year I have experienced growth as a result of my hard work and dedication — dealing with bigger and impactful projects, both professionally and personally.

I never really knew where to position myself as a Designer, but with time I learned that i just love creating stuff, which has naturally lead me to where I am today — speaking Design as a third language, constantly using Visual & Motion Design to communicate, and making the most impact I can while doing so.
