

CONTINO

Less time searching. More time helping clients succeed.

Who is Contino?

Founded in 2014, Contino is a digital transformation consultancy that helps Fortune 500 enterprises to become fast, agile, competitive, and ready for the new era of digital transformation. The firm has more than 500 employees worldwide with over 150 clients.

How Glean helps.

Facilitates global information sharing.

With operations around the globe in Australia, the U.K., and the U.S., Contino wanted to ensure that its employees had the best information to do their work, no matter where they were. Glean simplifies that process by enabling users across the organization to quickly and securely find whatever they need.

Saves time. Contino employees save time on a daily basis, especially when they use Glean's browser extension to put its work assistant at their fingertips in every tab they use, helping the Contino team to focus on their customers.

Makes onboarding easier. New consultants can easily get a grasp of what's going on with the client project they're working on without having to ask colleagues about every little detail. This means they're spending less time searching for documentation, and more time helping drive client success.

"Our customers expect us to deliver our projects on time with the highest of quality and little interference to their work. Glean's ability to search across all Contino's tools and platforms allow our team to quickly find the proper documents and understand the project history, which is critical to providing an excellent level of service."
