

MP govt awards contracts for cheapest solar power

JOYTI MUKUL
New Delhi, 1 September

The Indian Railways will tie up with a Madhya Pradesh government-owned entity to buy power from solar parks in the state but will draw it from the grid connectivity in seven states. Rewa Ultra Mega Solar (RUMSL) signed a letter of award on Wednesday for 1,500 Mw of solar power from Agar, Shajapur and Neemuch parks.

NTPC Renewable Energy, Avaada Energy, Beempow Energy, Talettutayi Solar, TP Soaryia and Aljomaih have bagged capacities in these three parks.

The state discovered the lowest tariff of ₹2.140 a unit (kilowatt/hour) so far after applicability of the basic customs duty (BCD) regime. This was for Unit-2 of Neemuch solar park. For the other two units of Neemuch solar park, tariffs were ₹2.149 for Unit-1 and ₹2.15 for Unit-3.

Tariffs for Shajapur solar park were ₹2.35 and ₹2.33 for Unit-1 and Unit-2, respectively. Further, tariffs for Agar solar park were ₹2.459 and ₹2.444 for Unit-1 and Unit-2, respectively. The state is looking to float more tenders for hybrid power projects and bring in a new policy for green energy. The railways enjoys waiver of interstate transmission system (ISTS) charges that are levied when an entity buys power generated outside a particular state. This will help in central funding for setting up a sub-station at the site. "It will socialise the cost of drawing power across all the seven states and the developers will also not need to invest in the sub-station," Sanjay Dubey, principal secretary, new and renewable energy, told Business Standard.

The three parks would result in savings of over ₹7,600 crore to power distribution companies of the state in 25 years, he said. Power generated from these parks would be procured by power distribution companies of Madhya Pradesh (1,305 Mw) and the railways (195 Mw). The parks are expected to get commissioned and start generating electricity by March 2023. "We

Feeding solar power directly to rly lines can save 7 mt carbon a year, says study

A new study by an Indian NGO Climate Trends and UK-based green tech start-up Riding Sunbeams has found that direct supply of solar energy to the Indian Railway lines would save almost 7 million tonne (mt) of carbon a year while also powering at least one in four trains on the national network on competitive terms.

The Railways plans to earmark 51,000 hectares of unproductive land for solar development as part of its net zero commitment by 2030. Plans are already underway to deliver 20GW of solar generation to match growing demand for energy to move trains. The analysis said around a quarter of this new solar capacity – up to 5,272 Mw – could be fed directly into the railway's overhead lines instead of being procured over the electricity networks or grid, reducing energy losses and saving money for the rail operator.

According to the study, around a quarter of this new solar capacity – up to 5,272 Mw – could be fed directly into the railway's overhead lines instead of being procured over the electricity networks, reducing energy losses and saving money for the rail operator. The researchers found that substituting energy supplied from the coal-dominated grid for private-wire supply from solar could also rapidly cut emissions by as much as 6.8 mt CO2 annually – just over the entire annual emissions of the city of Kanpur.

have possession of 95 per cent of land. That brings certainty. The environmental and social impact studies were done by the World Bank and this brings investor confidence," said Dubey.

India is a natural market available to global solar investors. According to Dubey, the scale here is huge because of the Union government's roadmap. So, global players know that "if they do not enter the Indian market this time, they will miss the bus." Though there is capital available across the country, Madhya Pradesh got cheaper tariffs despite having lower insulation than Rajasthan and Gujarat because of the project structuring, he added.

The state has also gone to the Central Electricity Regulatory Commission to get its petition approved even though the model bidding document of the Centre did not require it. Madhya Pradesh is also looking to float more tenders for hybrid power projects and bring in a new policy for green energy.

Monsoon may end at lower end of normal: IMD

"Purely from an agricultural point of view, I don't think any big monsoon revival in September will boost the prospects of kharif crops since sowing is nearly done. Whatever shortfall is there in oilseeds, coarse cereals, and cotton will remain. But yes, good September rains will help in filling reservoirs. Concerns over oilseeds and cotton prices will nonetheless continue," said Madan Sabnavis, chief economist, CARE Ratings.

The Met department in June had said that the south-west monsoon this year was expected to be 101 per cent of LPA, with most parts of the country, except regions of eastern and northeastern India, expected to get normal to above-normal rainfall.

IMD Director General Mrutyunjay Mohapatra said there were three major factors that led to less-than-expected performance of the south-west monsoon this year.

"First, the behaviour of negative Indian Ocean Dipole (IOD) wasn't anticipated correctly. Two, the Madden-Julian Oscillation (MJO), too, wasn't favourable for much of the monsoon months. Three, there were fewer low pressure areas formed over the Bay of Bengal this year, compared to normal," Mohapatra told Business Standard.

The IOD – often called the Indian Niño because of its similarity to its Pacific equivalent – refers to the difference in sea-surface temperatures in opposite parts of the Indian Ocean.

The MJO is a major fluctuation in tropical weather on weekly to monthly timescales. It can be characterised as an eastward moving 'pulse' of cloud and rainfall near the equator that typically recurs every 30-60 days.

He said all the three factors contributed to actual monsoons differing from what was forecast, but it is difficult to say how much and to what extent the three factors contributed to the monsoon's subpar performance.

"We will analyse all the multimodal weather models which were considered for arriving at the consensus forecast for 2021 and pinpoint which weather phenomenon the models could not capture," said Mohapatra. For September, the Met department said the forecast suggests above-normal to normal rainfall is likely over many parts of central India, while normal to below-normal rainfall is most likely over many parts of northwest and northeast India and southern-most parts of Peninsular India.

"Overall, the rainfall deficit does raise some concerns, but may not be raising alarm bells yet from an agriculture perspective (especially foodgrain). A late monsoon revival in September may augur well for soil moisture/reservoir levels and in turn rabi sowing, but a late withdrawal or unseasonal rains extending into early October may be more damaging," said QuantEco Research in a note.

Prosus joins top league of investors after BillDesk buy

In the edtech space, Prosus has been active globally, funding firms like India's Byju's or Poland's Brainly. It has also been investing in upskilling of executives by betting on companies like Skillsoft in the US and GoodHabitz in Europe.

In India, it has invested in Eruditus, which is into executive education. In the fintech space, the acquisition of BillDesk represents a clear consolidation of the business in the country.

Automobile sales skid on semiconductor shortage

Auto dealers said the semiconductor shortage may result in sales dropping by about 30 per cent during the upcoming festival season. Generally, the festival season accounts for a third of the yearly sales for most dealerships.

Vinkesh Gulati, president, Federation of Automobiles Dealers Association, said dealerships would be considering a maximum of 30-day inventory during the Diwali-Navratri season this time, as against the usual 45-60 days. "Commitment from the OEMs has gone for a toss. They began this month by promising a certain number of vehicles and have ended this month by stating that they will only be able to deliver 50-60 per cent of the initial number. This means that we are also unable to make straightforward commitments to our customers," he said.

Sources said the industry lobby group SIAM has asked the Ministry of External Affairs to reach out diplomatically so that as and when plants reopen, Indian automakers are prioritised.

Jet2.0 plans to fly by early 2022

The Jet Airways order was transferred to Boeing Capital, the manufacturer's leasing subsidiary.

This means a new Jet Airways could hypothetically reinstate this order.

In the plan, Jalan-Kalrock consortium have proposed to pay lenders Rs 385 crore against the total claim of Rs 7,807.74 crore. Out of that Rs 185 crore will be paid upfront within 180 days after start of operations of the company, whereas Rs 195 crore will be paid through issuance of zero-coupon bonds, each of Rs 1,000 face value after two years. It has also offered 9.5 percent stake to the lenders and 7.5 per cent in loyalty program Jet Privilege Private Limited (JPPL).

The NCLT bench had however declined to give historic rights over the historic slots of Jet Airways, and had instead asked DGCA and the Ministry of Civil Aviation to help the airline to obtain slots. When it shut operations, the airline had close to 700 such slots pairs including 116 and 214 in prime airports of Delhi and Mumbai.

"The discussion with the regulator and all airport operators has been very fruitful and they have promised full support," he added.
