Fuel Adjustment Clause

In general, your gas bill may increase or decrease in accordance with changes in fuel cost per therm of gas (Rules 19A, 19C & 21A). To account for a change in the fuel cost per therm of gas, there is a corresponding increase or decrease to the base commodity charge per therm. This fuel cost adjustment is reflected in your monthly bill as a Fuel Adjustment Clause (FAC) charge and becomes effective on the first day of the month following the change in fuel cost. The rate schedules shown in this brochure reflect rates without the FAC charge.

Utility Customer Appreciation Credit

In July of 2022, with approval from the Hawai'i Public Utilities Commission, ownership of Hawai'i Gas was successfully transferred from Macquarie Infrastructure Holdings, LLC to a portfolio of investment funds managed by Argo Infrastructure Partners, LP. As a condition of the sale, Hawai'i Gas committed to provide a $7 million rebate to its utility customers over a 9-year period. The $7 million will be provided to utility customers in the form of a monthly credit for each active account.
