Supporting Vocational Discernment

Have you made a major career or lifestyle change – from banker to botanist, or teacher to tech wiz?

Alternatively – do you support people through the process of finding their callings and taking bold, transformative action?

We want your stories and wisdom!

After spending Q1 getting well in mind, body, and spirit, The Salon and Sneha are launching a new series of programming focused on vocational discernment and lifestyle design. This “Blossom” series will feature workshops, panels, and cohorts that help women and allies find the work they are meant to do in this world and make it happen.

Qualifications

We are particularly interested in hearing from those who:

- Left a stable, but soul-sucking job to pursue a risky, but aligned, endeavor
- Identify as equally creative and pragmatic: know how to take a seed of an idea through to execution
- Have expertise in creative visualization, art therapy, human-centered design, or an otherwise non-traditional approach to supporting personal and professional transformation

Responsibilities (for Program Designers)

- Strategy: Envision an event, workshop, or series that supports women and allies in visioning and securing their dream job (and life)
- Coordination/Communication: Support organization (scheduling, pricing, logistics, etc.) and cross-promote events to your channels
- Participate: Attend the events and provide on-the-ground support

Benefits

- Payment:
 - Negotiable stipend, split of event fees, and additional funds to subsidize cost of program delivery (e.g. supplies, snacks, etc.)
 - 6-month Salon membership
- Visibility: Raise your profile as a regional thought leader. You'll be profiled on our websites, newsletter, and social channels.
- Community: Enjoy the company of local women who share your passions and interests.

Apply

- Send a bio and brief summary of your idea to info@thesalonpgh.com by noon on March 10, 2023. If possible, please provide a link to your website and/or social media pages so we can learn more about you!
