TIME TO LIE DOWN IN A FIELD AND HOLD ON TIGHT

A person, partially visible from the waist down, stands behind a wooden A-frame chalkboard sign on a sidewalk. The person is wearing a dark top and blue jeans, and is carrying a bright pink tote bag. The sign is positioned against a light-colored brick wall. The sidewalk is made of light-colored paving stones, and a metal drainage grate runs parallel to the wall. The scene is brightly lit, suggesting a sunny day.

EXT - DAVE'S HOUSE - DAY

The front door opens just a crack, DAVE's eyes appear in the crack, he looks around. Once he's sure the immediate environment is safe, the door opens wider. Dave stands in the doorway, his wife beside him. They are partially stooped as if ready to fight. Two kids appear between their legs.

STACEY, Dave's wife, makes the first move. She steps outside and looks around. She beckons to the others. Dave and the kids follow carrying an assortment of inflatable toys, a basketball, picnic blanket, bottles of Pepsi, a baseball bat.

They cautiously make their way down the front path front their door to the street.

Do you have the car keys?

Dave throws the car keys to his wife. She catches them and quickly puts them into the lock of the car door. As the lock clicks, suddenly 150 neighbours jump out of hiding spots and cheer; from behind wheelie bins, bushes, gates and other cars they leap and cheer.

THE NEIGHBOURS

Yaaaaaayyyyyggggghhhhhhhhhhhh!!!

Dave, Stacey and the kids jump back in terror. Stacey grabs a hold of the baseball bat and wields it threateningly. One of the neighbours steps forward laughing and motioning with his hands that they should calm down.

The family look around confused at all the laughing smiling faces. The lead neighbour stretches out his pointing finger like a gun, flicks the ~~xxx~~ thumb and says

A photograph of a blue metal wall, possibly a bridge or industrial structure, featuring a row of rivets along the top and bottom edges. The wall is covered in graffiti. At the top left, there is a small section of green foliage. The main text is 'PIÑA CORONA' in large, bold, black letters. Below it, the word 'CONSPIRACY' is written in a smaller, thinner font. The wall shows signs of wear and peeling paint.

In my dream we skateboarded to your parents's house.
They met us at the door. Your Dad was wearing cream trousers and cream shirt with a dark brown belt, he was wearing glasses. Your Mum was wearing a red dress and no shoes.

It was sunny.

You went inside to fetch something from your old room and left me with them talking in the back garden. You didn't come back so after a while I came to find you.

You were asleep in the bed. I lay down and slept next to you.

For instance, if a black is mated with a white the resulting puppies can only be hybrids in colour, and although they may all be black themselves they now carry parti-coloured genes, and may themselves throw mismarks.

EXT - WHITEHALL - DAY

Gary Linekar has the ball. He's running with it along the street wearing a 1990s England shirt with 'BLACK LIVES MATTER' emblazoned on the back.

As he reaches the Cenotaph a phalanx of far right thugs carry cans of Stella Artois run towards him waving their arms around and shouting expletives.

Slickly he chips the ball over their heads to Stan Collymore on the far side of their line. The thugs are confused, Collymore weaves with the ball between mounted police and a line of BBC reporters. He passes to Raheem Stirling, the ball goes wide, bounces off Nelson Mandela's statue, and onto Stirling's chest. He quickly turns and lobbs the ball to Marcus Rashford who has just run in to the gates of the House of Commons, the gates are open, he scores.

INT - A CORRIDOR - DAY

Boris Johnson is chatting with Priti Patel. The ball flies in, striking the side of his head. The impact causes his wig to fly off. it skids along the shiny floor and becomes sentient. The wig slides away, free at last.

Priti pats Boris's shiny head repeatedly and the Benny Hill music starts.

Very stringent rules regarding the colour of Poodles are laid down by the Kennel Club, and the relevant paragraph of the Kennel Club Standard states "Colour: All black, all white, all brown, all blue and all solid colours." The words "all solid colours" have quite recently been added and agreed upon, and cover such colours as silver, apricot and cream. But Poodles of any size which are in the slightest degree mis-marked or parti-coloured are much to be deplored, and it cannot be too highly stressed that when breeding Poodles, like colour should be mated with like colour. The only reason for deviating from this procedure is when an
