Enrico Deiana

UI & Product designer

My name is Enrico Deiana and I'm an Italian award-wining Product & User Interface designer, with 4 years of professional experiences in the market of digital products.

I've been studying and graduated in Media & Interaction design in IED (European Institute of Design), but my love story with design started a little earlier than this, with a pencil and some sheets of paper.

Wagging

project

I found out my calling for User Interface design after I came up with my first business idea when I was 21 years old. My vision was to create a mobile app to help pedigree dog owners find pure dogs for mating. The app was called “Wagging”, then changed into Waggin.

I sketched my idea in 35 detailed wireframes, without any knowledge about UX and UI, and I went out later to test my idea by doing surveys in the most crowded dog parks in Milan, and I collected more than 380 potential early adopters.

In 2 months

I Learned how to Prototype

I started recreating all the wireframes I had previously created, and I recreated all the user journey on Adobe Xd, and after a while I realized how many other interfaces were springing up: at that point I found out what an event was in UI.

My First Project

The App's user experience was basic and not too tricky, it was based on matches, called "HITS", which gave users the opportunity to share interest with each other.

Only after exchanged mutual interest, users would be able to take access the internal chat to arrange a meeting.

Storia
Il Golden Retriever è un cane da riporto proveniente dalla Gran Bretagna e creato secondo la tradizione, dagli incroci tra il Flat-Coated Retriever e il Tweed Water Spaniel, sulle rive del Loch Ness. Questi incroci furono diretti da Lord Dudley, duca di Tweedmouth, che attorno al 1858 volle unire le qualità dei Retriever
a quelle dello Spaniel ottenendo un cane cacciatore/riportatore, per poi trasferirlo nel continente americano, prima negli Stati Uniti e successivamente, alle porte del Novecento, anche in Canada.

UI redesign

Infinity Wallet

Redesign the whole design system for Infinity Wallet mobile app and arranged a new UI Kit.

The client needed to reorganize the current design system, previously made with no attention at all to reusable Components, Variants and Categories.

The Mission was to create a Design System for easier development and fixing all inconsistencies into it and fishing the existing pages/features and user flows that missed.

Two months of work to deliver a functional and full design system with reusable components, ilustrations from scratch, animations and transitions implemented, with easy exported code by using Zeplin.

UI design & Visual design

NFTio

UI design for the Startup NFTio, a Web app that sells top quality certified NFT's currently in the market.

he client needed a Minimum Viable Product to show off his idea and impress investors during Pitch, be noticed on Crowdfunding Platforms and last but not least, to test his idea with early adopters.

The project included a simple user-flow with an animated splash screen, a unique onboarding screen and a user-friendly homepage listed with categories and collections.

The client requested an original online credit card for each user, the possibility for users to switch between default and grid layouts on the product list.
I chose a minimal and polished look with 3d icons for the entire mobile app and also I created a product page that reflects the good UX guidelines during the purchasing process.

UI design

Medically

Design System and UI design for a healthcare mobile app, to enhance the interaction between patients and healthcare providers across multiple touch points.

Individual healthcare providers and organizations are investing in healthcare apps development to improve the quality of services and promote self-management behaviors in patients.

The mission was to create an intuitive and pleasing hybrid app that could help people schedule/cancel medical appointments, request prescriptions, have the ability to buy prescription drugs directly on the app, and easily access to the user medical records.

Crypto

Design System & Motion design for an hybrid wallet app to store and invest in digital assets while you're on the move.

The mission was to create a compelling cryptocurrency app to help novice users to manage, buy and sell digital assets. The client asked for a modern mobile app with animated items and a clear homepage adequate to any type of user.

The personal profile had to show information regarding the user's wallet and offer the chances to customize lists and financial movements. He also wanted to add coin overview screen to see performance and fresh informations all in one place, to have total control over his/her investments.

Olympus Gods

Designed a glorious Landing page for Olympus Gods' NFTs Collection and developed with Three.js.

The client asked for a unique landing page that could tell about the Olympus Gods project, and show off to the world the collection through an immersive and interactive scroll, within a modern website.

The mission was to create a pleasing experience in which the user could visualize through different perspectives the main digital asset (Zeus), created by the tattoo and 3D artist Avihoo Ben Gida.

He asked for an Awwward winning website in order to reach as many clients as possibile in a short amount of time, and in the same way he wanted to get a massive flow of new discord subscribers.

Elite Surf Academy

Designed a glorious Landing page for Olympus Gods' NFTs Collection and developed with Three.js.

The client needed a single page website to tell about his own new business online in a unique aspect, and to promote the Surf school towards the territory and beyond.

The mission was to push the surf school through the Awarness funnel step, thanks to an eye-catching and interactive platform, that could convert into new clients, and to promote globally local experiences in the Sardinian's territory.

The client asked for a modern and re-usable landing page as first MVP with Content Menagement Systems (CMS) integrated, to test out the brand new online business, and to compete with competitors in the market.
