Diamond Dot

Diamond Dot is a fun and creative way to make beautiful art. It's a paint by number/mosaic like art that uses diamond faceted resin dots to create a stunning shimmery effect. Diamond painting offers a creative, DIY project which is certain to get those creative juices flowing! It also helps in reducing stress and anxiety by providing a mindfulness based art therapy (MBAT).

Diamond painting can be considered an art that helps you meditate. By creating a quiet and peaceful environment it can take away sadness, worry and even reduce anger.

Diamond painting also improves and fine-tunes our physical motor skills. It increases your hand-eye coordination with each tiny 2.5-millimeter diamond tile you pick up and place on the canvas. It also flexes your hand and finger muscles, making you more adept, agile and skilful at everyday tasks.

The good news is, we'll give you 25% off your Diamond Dot purchases this November.

Sew some Christmas Tree Ornaments

Grab some Christmas fabric.

With a rotary cutter and mat, cut strips of fabric of various widths. For best results the strips ranging in width from 1" to 1 1/2".

After strips are cut, begin sewing the strips together. To sew them together, place two strips together, right-side together, and sew using a 1/4" seam. Continue adding strips until the piece measures 5 1/2" to 6" wide. Once you have enough strips together, press the seams all in one direction. Press the front nice a flat.

To cut the tree shape you need a ruler with a 60-degree line. Line up the 60-degree line along the top edge of the strip-piece. The right-hand side of the ruler should line up with the bottom corner of the fabric. Cut off the edge piece by cutting along the ruler on the right side.

Turn the strip-piece of fabric.

Line up the 60-degree line along the bottom edge of the piece and cut. You have the triangular piece for the tree.

Sew some Christmas Tree Ornaments

To make the trunk of the tree, cut two pieces of brown fabric 2" x 2".

With right sides together, sew along three sides using a 1/4" seam.

Clip corners, turn right side out and press flat.

For the back of the ornament, cut a piece of fabric the same size as the triangle. You can cut it from the strip-pieced fabric or a solid pattern fabric.

Put the strip-pieces triangle right side up on the work surface.

Place the trunk along the bottom of the tree, centring in the middle, with raw edges together facing upward. Pin in place.

Pin a piece of cord to the top, facing downward toward the centre of the tree.

Pin the backing piece on top.

Sew around the outside using a 1/4" seam and leaving an opening of about 2" on one side.

info@lavenderandtime2.co.za

@lavenderandtime80

@lavenderandtime

@lavendertime3

Sew some Christmas Tree Ornaments

When sewing as you approach the corners, stop and diagonally stitch one or two stitches before stitching the next side. These diagonal stitches will help reduce the bulk in the corners when turning right side out.

Clip corners.

Turn the ornament right side out, pushing out corners. Press flat.

Close the opening by either hand stitch it closed or edgestitch. Edge stitching is stitching around the tree about 1/8" from the edge.

This finished ornament will add a little country charm to your holiday decoration by hanging it on a tree or making it into a garland by attaching it to some ribbon or cord. They also make lovely gifts for friends, teachers, and workmates.

Happy Holidays!

DID YOU KNOW?

Ribbons are the Jewellery of clothes, adorning and enhancing their appearance.

Ribbons have a long and fascinating history.

They are among the oldest decorative and adorning materials that have been used since the early Middle Ages.

Initially, ribbons were primarily used as a symbol of wealth by nobility and the upper class.

Over time, they became an integral part of the fashion industry, adorning both men's and women's clothing.

Ribbons were also pinned to clothing and wrapped into hairstyles, as noted by Chaucer in his work.

The history of ribbons extends beyond fashion.

Today, ribbons are everywhere and serve various purposes.

They are used as awareness tokens, holiday decorations, and much more.

Ribbons are narrow, woven strips or bands made from different types of fabrics such as organza, satin, and polyester.

These materials are commonly used for ornaments, decorations, bow-tying, and accessories.

The origins of ribbon-making can be traced back to the Neolithic period when people wove narrow and dense strips of fabric on small portable looms.

Impressions of warp-faced plain weave bands dating back to 6000 B.C.E. have been found at the Turkish archaeological site of Catal Huyuk.

By the 11th century, St. Etienne in France became known for producing lighter-weight ribbons.

The popularity of ribbons continued to grow during the 14th and 15th centuries as more tailored clothing developed.

In the 16th century, ribbons gained even more prominence due to their usage and acceptance by French kings and nobility.

Eventually, in the 17th and 18th centuries, women became the primary wearers of ribbon adornments as male usage declined.

DID YOU KNOW?

The history of ribbons is not only important because they are still manufactured today but also because they have played significant roles throughout history. Ribbons have adorned clothing, hats, and other accessories, adding beauty and elegance to various occasions.

They have been used as commemorative tokens and in crafting projects. Ribbons continue to hold medals in place and bestow honour on those most deserving.

Whether it's donning an awareness ribbon or decorating for a special event, ribbons have become an integral part of our lives.

Awareness ribbons are a symbol of support for various causes and are often worn to raise awareness or show solidarity.

The colours of these ribbons can represent different meanings depending on the cause they support.

Here are some popular ribbon colours and their meanings:

Pink: Breast cancer awareness, birth parents, nursing mothers and women's health.

Red: HIV/AIDS awareness, heart disease awareness, substance abuse and addiction.

Yellow: Support for troops, suicide prevention and endometriosis awareness.

Green: Mental health awareness, childhood depression and organ donation.

Blue: Child abuse prevention, prostate cancer awareness and colon cancer awareness.

Purple: Alzheimer's disease awareness, domestic violence awareness and pancreatic cancer awareness.

Fun Fact:

Did you know that ribbons can be made from a variety of materials such as silk, satin, velvet, grosgrain, organza, and even paper?

Each material offers unique characteristics that make ribbons versatile for different purposes
